Declaration Of Autonomy In North China Postponed

ACTION HELD UP BY ORDER OF CHINESE

Mystery Surrounds Right About Face of General of China's Armies

PEIPING, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Declaration of an autonomous state in northern China, demanded by Japan under threat of invasion, was postponed today under mysterious circumstances. Japanese army authorities were reported angry at the delay. Maj. Gen. Kenji Dohara, chief of intelligence of the army on the Asian mainland, flew to Tientsin to consult with Chinese leaders.

Gen. Hsiao Cheng-Yang, of the Chinese army council here, said the delay was due to a peremptory order from Chiang Kai-shek, generalissimo of the Chinese army and the country's strongest man.

Chiang's reported order came just before the hour—noon today—tentatively set for declaration of an autonomous state.

To back up its demand for the state, the Japanese army was reported to be ready to move 11 divisions of troops into the great territory involved—the provinces of Hopei, Shantung, Chahar, Shan-si and Suiyuan, which have a population of 95,000,000 people and constitute the heart of northern China.

Division Ready
One division was at Shanhaikwan, 150 miles up the coast from Tientsin on the main Tientsin-Mukden (Manchukuo) railway.

Nominally the northern Chinese states whose autonomy is to be declared would be under the sovereignty of the central Chinese government whose capital is at Nanking, up the Yangtze river from Shanghai. Actually it would be practically independent of China and under the close tutelage of the Japanese army.

It would form still another buffer state—in addition to Manchukuo—between China and Soviet Russia, the nation whose future policies and actions most intimately concern Japan.

For surface purposes it is indicated that when the autonomous state is declared, it will maintain relations with the central government in about the same manner as does the southern semi-independent Chinese government whose capital is Canton.

Action Held Up
All had seemed to be ready, after a series of negotiations and plain statements of intent by Japanese army men, when Gen. Hsiao made his disclosure that action was held up.

Half an hour before the deadline, Hsiao said the announcement must be postponed for at least a week.

There had been a sudden shift of negotiations to the central capital at Nanking, he said, by a telegraphic order from Chiang Kai-shek, head of the government.

Maj. Gen. Hayao Tada, commander of the Japanese forces in China, is one of the principal figures in the move to establish an autonomous state in North China.

TOTAL ACREAGE OF EVERY CROP TO BE REDUCED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Broad outlines for the AAA program of the next 10 years were revealed today by the administration's planning specialists. Reductions in total acreage of nearly every major crop was recommended.

The convention of the Association of Land Grant Colleges was chosen as a sounding board for the details of what President Roosevelt has termed "the long-time program for agriculture."

H. R. Tolley, collaborator with the AAA program planning division and director of the Glanville Foundation of Agricultural Economics, and Oris V. Wells, acting chief of the planning division, were the exponents.

A regional study, carried on during the last six months with the help of the agricultural experiment stations in every state, resulted in the following proposals:

In the corn belt, acreage of corn and oats should be reduced with a corresponding increase in soybean, hay and pasture acreage.

For the "short-time" period, 1936-40, a limit of 85,000,000 acres of corn and a total production of 2,248,000,000 bushels was recommended. It would be a drop of 1,000,000 acres from the 1929 base and 7,000,000 acres from the reported 1935 acreage.

Hog Decrease
This would result during the short period in a decrease in hog numbers, substantially increase in dairy cows and milk production and moderate increases in beef cattle and sheep.

In the south, a decrease in cotton acreage below the 1929 or normal level was recommended with an increase in total crop lands and production of southern feed crops.

Thus, cotton acreage would be about 33,000,000 acres, or about 11 per cent under 1929, and about 34 per cent above 1935 growth.

SCHOOL BOARD CALLS BOND ELECTION FOR DECEMBER 12

Building In City To Set High Record

Believed Total for Year to Exceed Million or Higher Than 1931

BUILDING permits of 1931, which totalled almost $1,000,000 were being threatened today by the 1935 building permits in Santa Ana, when the building inspector announced that the total for the year as of date was $899,170 as compared with $910,582 in 1931. No year since that time has been anywhere near the 1931 figures.

Permits in November already have exceeded those of last month and November has proved to be the biggest month for building here since May of this year. In November, so far, permits have been issued for building to cost $51,419. In October the total permits were for $51,239.

A permit was issued yesterday to Ball and Honer, owner contractors for the erection of a beautiful new two-story eight room home at 1809 Heliotrope Drive. The permit also calls for a garage. Both are to be built of frame and stucco. The permit was for $8,500.

Indications that permits for the entire year would exceed those of 1931 were predicted in that there is still more than 10 days left in November and all of December during which time only $11,000 in permits are needed to equal the 1931 record.

LAGUARDIA CHOSEN MAYORS' PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(UP)—In an unexpected move today the U. S. conference of mayors elected Fiorello LaGuardia of New York as president.

The vote for a vigorous New Yorker was unanimous.

The 100 city executives selected Edward J. Kelly of Chicago as vice president and named the following four trustees: Frederick W. Mansfield, Boston; Angelo Rossi, San Francisco; T. S. Walmesley, New Orleans; and Neveille Miller, Louisville.

Daniel W. Hoan of Milwaukee, retiring president, was named honorary president.

COUNCILMAN SMITH SELECTS COMMITTEES FOR DEDICATION OF CITY HALL ON DECEMBER 3

WORKING committees for the dedication exercises of the Santa Ana City Hall, on December 3, were appointed by Joseph P. Smith, councilman, at a meeting of prominent citizens held in the offices of the Orange County Title company today.

Smith, appointed by the city council as chairman of the day and all its events, appointed Rex Kennedy, of the Orange County Title Company and Herb Miller, of the Miller Tire company here as his assistants.

Other heads of committees were appointed and their work outlined, although it was declared that there would likely be several changes in plans made before December 3.

Another meeting of the heads of the committees has been called for next Wednesday morning at the title company's offices.

Music Chairman
Harry Hanson, of the First National Bank was appointed chairman of a committee which will arrange for the music at the dedication exercises and Ed Hall was named head of the committee which will work with the merchants association and other civic bodies for decoration of the city hall for the occasion. Wayne Harrison was appointed to have charge of printed programs if it is decided to have them for the day.

Carl Mock, well known Santa Ana realtor has one of the biggest committees appointed. His job will be to contact all civic organizations.

BRITISH COAL MINERS VOTE FOR WALKOUT

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Coal miners of the United Kingdom have voted more than 14 to 1 in favor of a nationwide strike to enforce their demand for a wage increase of 50 cents a day and a national wage agreement, it was announced today.

The strike vote, threatening the most serious industrial dispute in Britain since the general strike of 1926, was announced by the executive committee of the Mine Workers' Federation, which also communicated the result to Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and asked him to meet with it at the earliest possible moment.

The committee authorized its officials to continue negotiations with mine owners for settlement, but it also decided to convene the miners' federation for the purpose of effectuating the ballot. In view of the overwhelming majority in favor of a strike it would appear that the ballot could be effectuated by calling the strike.

The recent epidemic of strikes in South Wales, the Midlands and Scotland, not "authorized" by the executive committee, was regarded as evidence that negotiations are at boiling point in the coal fields.

The vote was taken at every working pithead in the United Kingdom. More than 400,000 ballots were cast in the poll, taken Nov. 11, 12 and 13. Out of a total of 438,666 votes, 409,351 were in favor of strike action and 29,315 were opposed to it.

ARMY PILOT IS FATALLY HURT DURING CRASH

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 20.—(UP)—Sgt. O. M. Newsom, army air pilot, San Francisco, died today from injuries received last night when a U. S. navy plane, in which he was a passenger, crashed in a heavy fog on a hill-top.

Lieut. J. D. Greer, U. S. Navy, Coronado, Cal., pilot of the plane, was not injured seriously.

At approximately the same time, Lieut. L. C. Simpler, U. S. Navy, Sunnyvale, Cal., piloting an accompanying ship was forced to "ball out" near Clanton, Ala., when his gas supply ran out.

Greer and Newsom crashed near frontside, outside the city limits house.

Ask Voters To Approve Entire Cost

Sum of $323,000 Included in Proposal; Federal Grant is Certain

RECOGNIZING the demand for another school bond election as represented by the filing of petitions carrying 1558 signatures, the Santa Ana board of education called an election for December 12 on a proposal for a $323,000 bond issue.

The amount stipulated in the bond proposal covers the entire estimated cost of completing the high school plant and building a $100,000 auditorium for Lathrop junior high school, without dependence upon a federal grant of 45 per cent. The board, however, disclosed that if the federal grant is received, as the board is assured it will be, no bonds will be issued or sold except for the district's $178,650 share of the program. The federal grant would be $144,350.

The total project cost was reduced $5000 under the original program, which was defeated in September, that amount being out from the Lathrop auditorium allocation. The original plan called for $180,000 in bonds and $148,000 grant.

The board has been advised by authorities close to WPA headquarters that the grant will be approved by the federal government, but that the project must be started not later than December 20, the deadline for all federal projects. That ruling forced the board to call the election prior to December 20.

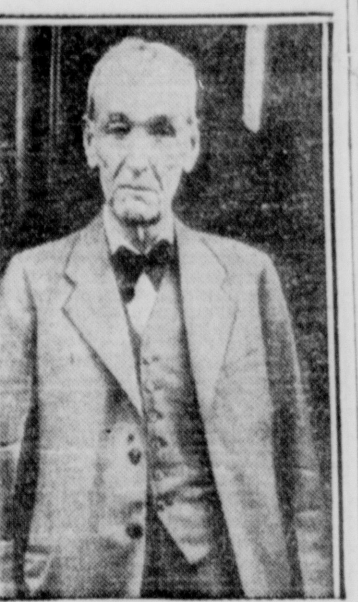

However, in response to the expressed sentiment of the city for rehabilitation of the school buildings, the board decided to take no chances on a federal grant, and submitted a bond proposal covering the entire cost. The plan thus would not be blocked by refusal of the grant, remote as that contingency appears.

The present plan provides for a $323,000 high school program, to complete units B, C and E, also the $100,000 Lathrop auditorium. Block B is a class-room building, Block C the shop building, and Block E the commercial, domestic science and music building. Block A, the new high school auditorium, is nearing completion, and Block D, the science building, is already in use.

Several P.-T. A. leaders were before the board again last night to support the petitions previously filed, urging another bond election.

THIRD LAMSON TRIAL STARTED THIS MORNING

SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 20.—(UP)—After weeks of delay, the third trial of David Lamson on charges he killed his wife in their Stanford campus home began in the Santa Clara county court today. Twelve jurors were seated tentatively while the prosecution began outlining its case.

The trial got under way after Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco of Mariposa county, called into the case through one of the many disputes over procedure, firmly ruled against two motions of the defense seeking further delay.

Trabucco first disallowed a motion of Leo Friedman, chief of defense counsel, to call a new jury venire. Then he turned down a motion for addition of 150 names to the original panel, of which there remained only 34 of the 200 first called. The others had been excused for personal and business reasons.

No mention was made of Friedman's intentions of appealing to the U. S. Supreme court, a move which would hold up county proceedings, as Trabucco directed 12 persons be seated in the jury box.

District Attorney Fred Thomas' staff immediately began outlining the case on which they base their charges against the former Stanford press executive and their hopes of convicting him of first degree murder.

Lamson once before was convicted and sentenced to death but the state Supreme court reversed the verdict. A second trial ended in a disagreement. The third has been delayed by Friedman's efforts to have the trial transferred to another county, his successful move to have Judge R. H. Syer removed, and his repeated attempts to obtain federal jurisdiction. All his moves were based on allegations of bias and prejudice against Lamson in the county.

CLAIMS HAUPTMANN READY TO CONFESS

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann convicted of the kidnaping of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., is anxious to confess his part in the crime, according to Dr. John F. ("Jafie") Condon, intermediary in the case.

The former Fordham professor who passed $50,000 ransom to a man he identified at the trial as Hauptmann, did not mention Hauptmann by name in his speech last night to the Professional Women's club, but in an interview he said:

"I am now thoroughly convinced that Hauptmann is ready and willing to make a full and complete confession. As a matter of fact, he has sent for me three times, but as yet I have not gone to see him. There is a reason for this."

OPPORTUNITY TO SAVE BIG SUM TABLED

Disregard Suggestions of Own Engineers to Save Million and Half

THE COUNTY Supervisors' action late yesterday in calling a second flood bond election for December 19, on the same $6,620,000 bond proposal that was rejected by the voters October 4, thus disregarding even the suggestion of their own consulting engineers that a $1,500,000 saving could be made in right-of-ways, drew strong disapproval and predictions of another defeat from representative public opinion today.

The supervisors not only set aside engineer opinion, but also over-ruled the protest of one of their own members, Supervisor N. E. West, who cast a lone vote against resubmitting the same program that carries an unnecessarily inflated sum for buying reservoir sites. West urged a reduction in the right-of-way allowance, along the lines pointed out by the consulting engineers. He was voted down, 4 to 1, on his proposal that the bond issue be reduced from $6,620,000 to $4,570,000, a saving of $1,550,000.

As the consulting engineers had done, he showed how this could be done, still leaving the entire plan of flood control works intact, as originally planned.

Issue Statement
But his four colleagues, for reasons not yet explained, decided to keep the question of saving or spending that $1,500,000 or more in their own hands. They issued a statement saying they were mindful of the opportunity to make the saving, but that by reducing the "sponsors' contribution," they would be acting in bad faith with the federal government, which based its $6,574,000 grant upon a $6,620,000 county contribution.

This statement apparently disregarded assurances that the federal grant would not be affected by a reduction of right-of-way estimates, the government not being concerned with right-of-ways.

This explanation of the supervisors appeared likely to fall upon deaf ears, so far as the voting public is concerned, judging from the general reaction toward the whole matter.

Many expressions of disapproval were heard, some of it from sources so important that the warning cannot be ignored.

A. J. Cruickshank, retired Santa Ana banker and rancher, flatly declared that the flood bonds will be defeated, just as they were before. Mr. Cruickshank was not impressed by the board's statement.

"I can see no excuse for calling for bonds in that amount," he said. "Neither can I see excuse for including sums in the proposal for such units as Santiago dam, and other units which have either been already provided or are not needed."

Many Opposed
"I predict that there will be a great many prominent leaders of this county who were silent during the last election."

PENSION CANDIDATE WINS IN MICHIGAN

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Nov. 20.—(UP)—Vernor W. Main, Battle Creek attorney whose candidacy was espoused personally by Dr. F. E. Townsend, today held the Republican nomination for representative in the third Michigan district.

Complete results in the five-county district gave Main 15,419 votes as compared with 4806 for his nearest rival, Woodbury Ransom, Kalamazoo banker.

"I am overwhelmed by the size of the vote," Main said at Battle Creek. "I attribute it not much to personal popularity, the prominence given my name by Dr. Townsend's campaign."

SEEKS SUBSTITUTE FOR AAA PROGRAM

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 20.—(UP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley, passing through en route to San Francisco for the inauguration of trans-Pacific airmail service, today called upon opponents of the administration to suggest a workable substitute for the agricultural policy of President Roosevelt.

"I had hoped by now to hear what they have to offer," Farley said, "but so far nothing has been put forward."

Farley predicted President Roosevelt's electoral vote will be greater in 1936 than in 1932. He hasn't lost any strength in the east and he will sweep the rest of the country, Farley said, because the farmers haven't forgotten the difference between Hoover's administration and Mr. Roosevelt's first term.

recommended stabilization of production at the present level. It was believed more milk could be produced if a more favorable market situation were to develop.

Other crop estimates for the short-time period were: Poultry, about the same, with a 25 per cent increase in the south; oats, a slight decrease from the 1929 and 1935 levels; hay, an increase from 68,000,000 and 82,000,000 acres to between 100,000,000 and 115,000,000 acres.

"As a matter of fact," Tolley said, "many important steps in this direction have been taken in the adjustment programs for 1936 and following years now being offered to farmers."

He said farmers were being allowed to retire any lands they chose in amounts equivalent to the contracted acreage instead of land previously seeded to the contracted crop.

General provisions in nearly all contracts, he said, are being included to allow revision of bases which are felt to be unfair to the individual producer.

"The goal in organization and administration," Tolley said, "is of course a single contract for each farm, stressing positive performance. The program would be administered through a single agricultural adjustment association in each county, replacing the commodity associations of the present program."

Persimmon And Avocado Growers To Meet Friday

Orange county persimmon and avocado growers will meet at the Women's clubhouse a few blocks west of Garden Grove on Friday evening, to discuss marketing plans for the 1936 season. It was announced today by Charles Haverly, who will be in charge.

Ernest J. Smale, manager of the Mutual Orange distributors, of Garden Grove, will speak, and a representative of the state grange also will talk.

Facts concerning market plans will be presented by representatives of the California Pear company of San Diego. The meeting is called for 7:30 o'clock.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 20.—The revival services at the Christian church being held nightly by the Rev. J. G. Hurst, pastor of the church, are drawing large audiences at each meeting. The Rev. SUPERVISOR WEST OPPOSES RESUBMISSION OF ORIGINAL PLAN REJECTED BY VOTERS were much in excess of the value or possible cost of the land required. This explanation of the large amount set up for rights of way in the recent bond election was made on various occasions. It was pointed out that while the amount was set up in the call for the bond election, the bonds would be sold only for the actual present value or cost of the lands needed.

"After the defeat of the last bond issue, at the mutual expense of myself and the appraiser, Mr. George Smutz, one of the foremost authorities on land appraisal in the United States, Mr. Smutz appraised about 25 per cent of the Prado reservoir land. This appraisal was mostly of the more valuable and productive areas. It showed that the actual present day values with liberal allowance for contingent factors in condemnation to be approximately one-half the values placed on the same land in 1928. This reduction in value from the 1928 figures is consistent with the general reduction in values of such property, and tends to show that the appraisal in 1928 was reasonably fair. We had one large piece of land appraised at $300 per acre in 1928 offered for $90 per acre during our recent appraisal.

"In the recent bond election the land and rights of way cost for the Prado reservoir site was estimated on the basis of acquiring fee simple title to all lands below the level of the top of the dam, totaling in area 2,197 acres, whereas the land covered by the 1916 flood (once in a hundred years flood) with a foot above the 1916 level would comprise only 540 acres. This land figured at the 1928 valuation was worth $1,720,000. In our recent report from the Consultant engineers on the Browning-Pinkle modified plan, the engineers estimated this land was a present value of 75 per cent of the 1928 cost or a present cost of $1,290,000. Mind you this is not on the basis of 50 per cent of the 1928 values, which has recently been determined as the approximate fair values. The consultant engineers were extremely conservative in using as a basis of present day value 75 per cent of the 1928 appraisal, playing more than safe by adding 50 per cent to our recent appraised values, above mentioned.

Conservative Basis
"However, by taking the more than conservative safe basis of 75 per cent of the 1928 price and applying it to the land in all the various projects, including the Prado dam up to a foot above the 1916 flood level we have Prado reservoir $1,290,000
Rights of way for the other projects 447,000
$1,737,000

"The area above the 1916 flood level to top of dam is 3767 acres valued in 1928 at $1,104,000. Instead of buying this land at any price which would be flooded to no extent except by the once-in-a-thousand year flood, it is suggested that its present value which is $828,000 figured on the above basis, be capitalized at 4 per cent or $33,000. By adding this $33,000 to the above cost of rights of way of $1,737,000 out total rights of way would be $1,770,000, thus reducing our $3,420,000 right of way figures by $1,650,000.

"We have been told by Major Wyman of the United States Army Engineering corps and by State Works Progress Administrator Frank T. McLaughlin that the amounts set up in our bond issue for rights-of-way would have no bearing on the Federal government allocation. The only requirement being that we provide the rights-of-way, whatever the cost may be, and put up $3,200,000 as our part of the construction cost.

"The above figures used for rights of way are extremely generous and afford ample margin above actual values for all cost contingencies in the acquisition of lands needed.

"We could thus safely reduce our bond issue to $4,970,000 and can be assured of ample money for rights of way and to include all projects. This reduction in the size of the bond issue is a concession to the common logic of known facts and an evidence of fairness and consideration to those we are asking to vote for Orange County Flood Control and Water Conservation."

MAJORITY MEMBERS OF BOARD IN STATEMENT
The four majority members of the county board of supervisors, which yesterday called a second election on the $5,620,000 flood bond proposal, today issued a statement explaining their reasons for not reducing the allowance for rights-of-way.

The statement follows:
"The Board of Supervisors of Orange county in calling, at this time, a bond election in the amount of $5,620,000 in order to secure to Orange county and to the citizens thereof, if they so desire, the benefits of a grant of federal funds in the amount of $5,674,000 for the carrying out of the complete plan of flood control and water conservation as heretofore presented to federal agencies, is fully mindful of the fact that it now seems possible to affect very substantial savings in the cost thereof and of its responsibility in connection therewith.

"Such savings have particular reference to decreased values of lands and rights of way, to the fact that certain road changes contemplated in the original plans, the estimates of the cost of which have been included in the original estimates of cost, have been already completed, and to the further fact that the relocation and construction of at least one state road may be carried out using state funds.

Bad Faith?
"This board, however, is now convinced that in view of representations heretofore made to federal agencies which representations have resulted in the allocation of a grant of federal funds in the amount of $5,674,000 and in the fixing of these same federal agencies of the sum of $5,620,000 as the "Sponsor's Contribution," that it would be acting in bad faith, with respect to the federal government if it should call a bond election for a sum

lesser in amount than the sum above noted as having been determined by these federal agencies.

The Orange County Flood Control district in its original applications for an allocation of a grant of federal funds for the carrying out of its flood control and water conservation project set up as the total estimated cost of the 11 projects or units thereof the sum of $11,600,000.

This total sum appearing in applications heretofore made to the FWA and also to the WPA through the U. S. army engineer corps, was segregated as between constructional cost and cost of lands and rights of way as follows:

Constructional Cost..... $ 8,180,013
Lands and Rights of Way 3,419,987

Total $11,600,000

Primary Basis
This sum, to which was added $1,594,000 by Federal agencies, bringing the Federal estimate of total cost to the sum of $13,194,000, constitutes the primary basis upon which the Federal agencies fixed not only the Federal grant in sum of $5,674,000, but also the district's contribution, in the sum of $5,620,000.

Both of these figures, together with additional data, are set forth in the official Works Progress Administration Project Application covering W. P. A. Application No. 1231-294 on W. P. A. Form No. 306, a photostat copy of which is hereto attached.

This document, constituting the official record of this project in the Federal files, specifies in subdivision No. 9 under the heading "Federal Funds" the sum of $5,674,000 segregated into four items, and under the heading "Sponsor's Contribution," i. e. "Sponsor's Contribution," the sum of $5,620,000, unsegregated.

The savings which this Board believes may be made and which the individual members thereof now pledge their utmost endeavor to effect, comprise the following:

1—Estimated savings in lands and rights of way $ 750,000
2—Land and rights of way already acquired on Brea Creek Channel and portion of Channel already constructed $ 7,700
3—Road changes already completed as per estimates included in Engineering Report ... 90,000
4—State Road which might be constructed using State funds..... 136,000

Estimated Total Probable Saving $ 1,032,000
Regarding the probable saving in lands and rights of way it should be noted that, although there has been a material decrease in land values since the appraisal of 1928 as used by the board of consulting engineers in its estimates of cost, it will be necessary in the Prado basin to relocate and re-construct the town of Prado and that it will be necessary to make provision for the removal of two school buildings and the readjustment of two school districts. There are also improvements located upon the lands to be acquired for which compensation must be made, all such having been included under the general classification "Lands and Rights of Way."

Respecting road changes already completed the following may be noted: those included in the estimate of cost the San Juan dam and the Carbon canyon dam. Concerning the state road which might be constructed with state funds such an effort will be made with respect to the Santa Ana canyon highway.

Although the estimated possible saving of $1,032,000 indicates that it would seem unnecessary to finally dispose of these county bonds, if approved by the voters, in an amount exceeding $5,587,000 the experience of this board in connection with the construction of Newport Harbor demonstrates the necessity for having some unallocated funds available to cover unexpected or contingent elements.

In the construction of this harbor work involving a bond issue on the part of the county of the amount of $440,000 this board was unexpectedly required to guarantee the amount of $43,000 to cover engineering cost and to make a cash deposit in the amount of $25,000 to insure the completion of certain rights of way obligations and also to make additional cash advances approximating $10,000, which will be more than offset by saving effected in construction costs.

Should the construction of this flood control and water conservation project, involving a bond issue on the part of the county many times the sum above noted, be approved by the voters, this board is of the opinion provision should be made for a comparable contingent fund, which obviously will not be expended unless required.

In the event that the voters of Orange county shall approve the issuance of bonds in the amount as specified, i. e. $5,620,000 this board will use offer for sale bonds in the aggregate amount of not more than $5,000,000.

Relative to the remainder, aggregating $1,620,000 this board will dispose of only such portion thereof as shall be necessary to comply with federal requirements and to carry out the complete project as heretofore adopted.

Signed:
BOARD OF SUPERVISORS,
Wm. C. Jerome,
John C. Mitchell,
LeRoy E. Lyon,
Willard Smith.

ing the previous bond campaign, who will come out openly against the bonds this time."

W. H. Spurgeon, of Santa Ana, chairman of the Citizens' Water Committee, which supported the flood bonds in the last campaign and later requested the supervisors to call another election on a "minimum needs" plan, declined to make a statement until after he studied the statement of the supervisors.

"I understand the supervisors will make a statement regarding savings on right-of-ways," he said, adding that he considered "The Register's" assumption that the bond money will all be spent is unwarranted." He said he would make no statement until he gets "all the facts".

The Associated Water Users of Orange County, which opposed the flood bonds in the last campaign, has indicated that it will again campaign against the bonds, because of the board's refusal to consider reductions in the bond issue.

A. J. McFadden, prominent Orange county rancher, civic worker and member of the state prorate commission, today decried current efforts of the board of supervisors to secure passage of the much-mooted flood control and water conservation bond issue. The statement McFadden gave The Register was as follows:

"I have been up north for five days. Until today I have been out of touch with affairs here, and have come to the conclusion that maybe I am crazy.

"If that election call made by the board of supervisors yesterday is the same one for which I signed a petition, then I can't read the English language. I guess it only goes to show that you can get people to sign a petition for anything."

STRIKE PICKETS IN CLASH WITH GUARDS

BARBERTON, O., Nov. 20.—(UP)—Three hundred strike pickets clashed with 50 guards armed with gas guns and clubs today as the Ohio Insulator company attempted to open its plant here, closed for nine weeks.

Pickets were driven back gasping and choking, by clouds of tear and nauseating gas as they charged a five-car train loaded with food and bedding and smashed windows and headlights of 12 automobiles carrying employees into the plant.

Picket lines formed after announcement the plant would be open for those who wanted to return to work. A company guard force and eight deputy sheriffs lined the switch track into the buildings.

Interest Growing In Class Sessions At M. E. Church

Continued growth of interest and increased attendance mark the meetings of the Fall Fellowship classes at the First Methodist church, it was reported today.

These meetings are being held regularly on Wednesday evening of each week at 7:30 o'clock and will continue for another month.

Under the general theme, "Some Christian Beliefs for Present Day Living," the group led by Dr.

George Warner is discussing some of the difficulties confronting those who would live as Christians in this modern age, and methods of overcoming those difficulties and problems that are being found.

Mrs. Helen M. McArthur, widely known leadership training teacher, has charge of the second group, studying "The Teaching Task of the Church." In this course the purpose of the church, Christian education in the church, development of Christian personality, and kindred subjects are being profitably discussed.

All who are interested in the subjects outlined are cordially invited to attend the remaining four sessions.

ANNUAL AFFAIR TO BE HELD IN S. A. SATURDAY

More than 500 Boy Scouts, representing every troop in Orange County, will take part in the annual Boy Scout Field Day to be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. in the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl. It was announced today by Alvin Koenig, field executive.

Scout Troop 100 of Placentia, which has walked away with Jam-borne and camping event honors for the past four years, will have some keen competition this year, according to Koenig, who expects Troop 32 of Fullerton and Troop 23 of Santa Ana to be two of the leading troops in Saturday's events.

Five Eagle Scouts will run off the various events, of which there will be 11. Three sheepskin trophies will be awarded to the high ranking troops. First place will count 15 points, second 10 points and third five points.

The event will open with a grand parade and opening ceremony at 1 p. m. The 11 events will start at 1:30 p. m., it was announced.

Events on the program this year include several for Cub Scouts.
The events are fire by friction rope, dressing race, pup tent pitching, string-burning, pyramid building, centipede rope race, antelope race, signaling, skin the snake and fireman's carry.

YOUTH FREED OF HOMICIDE CASE CHARGES

A charge of negligent homicide, filed against Walte Hartley Davis, 19, Santa Ana youth, following a fatal accident at Ward and Win-tersburg roads, on the night of October 27, when Mrs. Lois Bower, Santa Ana Gardens, received fatal injuries, was dismissed in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today.

The court ruled that there was insufficient evidence that young Davis was violating the law at the time of the crash which took the life of Mrs. Bower, and seriously injured her daughter, Blanch Hartzell, 15.

Davis had been free on bail of $1500 since the accident. He is the son of W. H. Davis, South Main street pharmacist.

The accident occurred when the Davis car, being driven east on the Wintersburg road, crashed into the side of the car occupied by Mrs. Bower and her daughter and driven by Lee D. Holliday, 19, of Santa Ana route No. 1. The Holliday car was knocked over into a field, where it overturned.

The court ruled that there was no evidence as to the speed that either car was travelling at the time of the crash and no evidence to show which driver was at fault.
tersection, 45 miles an hour being

Thanksgiving service to be held next Tuesday night at the Y. M.

devoted to study of the purposes of the Hi-Y and its service to the school.

Byland and Anson Hamner, on banjos, and Don Hamaker, mandolin. Following the business session, the boys enjoyed a swim and then spent an hour in games and refreshments. There are 32 members of the club at present, and 23 were at the meeting. The club is under the guidance of Herbert Thomas, associate boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

REFUSE BOND MONEY USE TO RELIEF GROUP

Definite refusal on the part of the board of supervisors to appropriate a $15,000 fund requested by the SERRA committee to continue the medical and dental program for SERRA relief clients yesterday afternoon resulted today in complete cessation of that phase of the relief program.

There are no funds left available for the SERRA by which to provide glasses, dentures or other medical appliances to SERRA clients after the board of supervisors turned down the SERRA request for another allocation of funds from the state unemployment relief bond fund. SERRA officials were informed that the supervisors plan to use this money on WPA projects. There remains $24,494.82 in the bond fund.

The SERRA committee has been using this money in an attempt to rehabilitate persons on relief to make them more employable.
There are 161 clients still without glasses or dentures which had been approved by the SERRA group as being needed. Cost of these items amounts to $4500.

A special meeting of the SERRA committee will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning to consider the emergency which now exists with the refusal of the supervisors to come to the aid of the SERRA, which now has no local funds.

A total of $275,000 has been spent by the local SERRA committee from this fund since July, 1934.
The board of supervisors used $50,000 out of the bond fund for the Villa Park and Anaheim storm drain projects.

Local Briefs

Richard A. Emission, general manager of Santa Ana Lumber Co., and Mrs. Emission, 2335 Park boulevard, left this morning for San Francisco with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Simpson of Los Angeles. They will spend several days hunting near Visalia and will attend the Stanford-California game at Palo Alto Saturday before returning home next Monday.

A minimum temperature of 35 was recorded at 6 a. m. yesterday according to a report by Charles E.
Davis, observer at the Santa Ana Junior college meteorological station. The maximum was 70 at 2
p. m. Relative humidity was 48 per cent and the average wind velocity was 1.5 m. p. h.

Firemen were called to Fourth and Artesia streets at 2 a. m. today when someone pulled the fire alarm box at that location. It was a false alarm.

CHRISTMAS STREET DECORATION MATERIAL ARRIVES TODAY, WORK TO BE STARTED NOVEMBER 29

With the elaborate Christmas decorations which will make the streets of Santa Ana festive and colorful for the Christmas season scheduled to arrive in Santa Ana today, plans were made this morning to start decoration of city business blocks on November 29.

Reporting to members of the retail division of the chamber of commerce at a special meeting this morning, Phil M. Brown, manager of the Business Men's Association of Santa Ana who is chairman of the finance committee, said that decorations will be started here on November 29 to be ready for the grand opening of the Christmas season here the evening of December 3.

Walter Swanberger, chairman of the store and window decoration committee, reported on progress of his committee. Following his report, it was decided to award prizes this year on store windows.
Forty per cent will be awarded for sales appeal of windows, 30 per cent for Christmas motif and 30 per cent for originality.

Cup Displayed
The sweepstakes cup, won for the first time last year by Swan-berger's Store for Men which is on display in the store windows this week, will be the sweepstakes prize. This cup must be won three years by one merchant before becoming a permanent award. The window trimmers will have a share in the prize money, and $10 will be awarded the window trimmer with the best window, the second prize being $5.

It was pointed out that under the percentages this year, the small stores will have as much chance to win prizes as the large ones. Stores must enter their windows in the contest, making applications to have windows judged with Swanberger. Judges are presidents of local service clubs, being Lorraine French, Stanley Goode, Loren Moore, C. W.
Harrison and Wayne Harrison.

Tentative route of the parade was announced by John Knox, chairman of the parade committee,
with whom is working Hunter Leach and Franklin Grouard. The parade will start from East Fourth street back of the P. E. depot, according to the tentative plan, go west to Broadway, north to Fifth on Broadway, west on Fifth to Ross, south on Ross to Fourth, east on Fourth to Broadway, south on Broadway to First, east on First to Sycamore, north on Sycamore to Sixth, east on Sixth to Main and south on Main to Second. Lester J. Fountain was appointed a member of the Christmas program committee.

Orville Lyons, Ben Manker, Claude Knox, Glen Tidball, William Baker and Sidney Boucher were named as additional members of the finance committee.

Budget Increased
The budget for this year's Christmas decorations, musical program, parade, etc., has been set at $2000, more than twice as much as in any past year. Local merchants anticipate the biggest Christmas in the history of the city and are planning, in accordance, the biggest program ever staged here. Store lights will be turned off from 6 to 7 p. m. the opening night, December 3, street lights will go off for a few moments, and when all the lights are turned on at 7 p. m., a bomb will be fired and the big parade, featuring musical organizations and the Gilmore Circus Parade, will start.

Because of the non-cooperation of Western Union and other concerns in the Main street block on the east side of Main between Third and Fourth streets, the committee this morning discussed not decorating that section, leaving the Third and Main street corner on the northeast side undecorated. It was announced that the Postal Telegraph company, which just opened office at 612 North Main street, has joined the chamber of commerce.

Ivie Stein reported on decoration plans and J. H. Bell, chairman of the retail division, presided.

INDEPENDENT GROWERS SUE CONTROL BOARD

Independent walnut growers of Southern California have allied themselves in a move to invalidate the federal market control of walnuts under AAA, by filing suit in United States District court, Los Angeles, attacking the constitutionality of the control board.
Frank Blissett, of Anaheim, heads the list of growers who have filed the suit against the Walnut Control Board.

Virtually all independent growers in the area have joined in support of the litigation, subscribing $3 per ton of their crop toward an expense fund. It is said.
The action marks rebellion of the growers to the control board's action in levying a portion of the crop each year for market regulation purposes. The growers, it is said, contend that their poorest market has been since the plan was placed in effect two years ago.

The control board this year levied 2½ cents per pound of the crop, in connection with its operations, but last year changed to a plan of taking 30 per cent of the crop. Regulated feeding of this portion of the crop to the market was supposed to stabilize prices.

This year, it is said, the control board undertook to increase the "take" from the crop to 45 per cent, but finally reduced the portion to 35 per cent. The growers, according to the plaintiffs in the suit just filed, decided to test the right of the control board to take their crops.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

—News Behind The News—

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

CRISIS

The quarrel between savers and spenders at Washington has reached a stage where the participants barely nod at cabinet meetings or cocktail parties. Headline hints don't describe the inner tautness. It may result almost in cabinet changes.

Secretary Morgenthau is the key figure. His secret ambition is to quit public life with a great reputation as a secretary of the treasury—another Hamilton. He has taken advantage of his role to subvert the Hopkins-likes theories of spending the nation and party back to prosperity. He warns that the administration can bring back good times only through economy.

A smashup was narrowly averted when the President issued orders to the three Musketeers. Though Mr. Roosevelt has a deep affection for his young financial aide, he sent him to Spain to cool off. The President then kidnapped Messrs. Ickes and Hopkins for a long sea cruise. He didn't dare to leave the three in Washington. But there may be another crisis in the making, as Mr. Morgenthau seems to be having his way in preliminary budget discussions.

LOVE

You can't see all the sleight-of-hand tricks but President Roosevelt is making passes these days to produce a magic substitute for AAA benefit payments. The idea seems to be to set up a just-as-good system before the Supreme court judges the New Deal's most valuable asset.

Government lawyers are optimistic that the high tribunal will uphold the AAA but they're not certain. A repetition of the NRA crackdown might prove fatal. Moreover, Mr. Roosevelt can't prepare his 1937 budget on time if the decision is delayed for several months. Financially and politically, the benefit payments figure too heavily in all 1936 plans to be left to judicial chance.

Though flowering slowly, the new scheme contemplates payment of farmers out of relief funds. Legalists believe the President has authority to use the money as he pleases. There is also private talk of utilizing the provision permitting the government to finance farm exports. Love for the farmer will find a way.

SERENE

The nation's head man isn't losing any sleep over the massed attack which great interests—steel, industrial, financial, public utilities—are making on him as 1936 approaches.

Secretary Early spread out a newspaper page on the President's desk on a recent afternoon. It carried an editorial and cartoon which thumbed their noses at a certain judge who has recently ruled adversely against a pet presidential project. Bystanding, you would have had reason to suspect that Mr. Roosevelt would award the Pulitzer prize to this New Deal publisher if he could.

So long as economic conditions continue to improve New Dealers won't worry over what their enemies say in public interviews and at their conventions. They figure that every knock now may turn into a political boost in November of 1936. They're polishing off the presidential suggestion that he welcomes a contest between the "haves" and the "have nots."

PROVEN

Administrations are secretly pleased that New Deal banker was not elected as second vice-president of the bankers' association. They aren't shedding any tears over the financiers' rebuff to the man who is now running the Eccles banks.

Federal Reserve Board Governor Eccles isn't as popular at Washington as he was in the feverish days. He was the original apostle of the spending program which more conservative advisors, notably Secretary Morgenthau and RFC-er Jones, would like to curtail. A victory for an Eccles man would have made life almost unbearable for his rivals in the inner financial circles.

Mr. Jones has a reason all his own for rejoicing. The election of an anti-New Dealer candidate may spike the contention that he dominates the 7000 institutions in which the RFC has bought stock. There had been suggestions that the election was "fixed" because of so many banks' tieup with the federal till. Now the Texan can put on a "holier than thee suspects" air. He has.

GOOD

Official Washington's slightly concealed contempt for Herbert Hoover has changed to chilly respect. Privately the politicians concede that the former president is making the most effective attacks on F. D. R.

Mr. Hoover's speech before the Ohio society sparked, in the opinion of his enemies. They wonder who wrote it, suspecting Ben Allen, former Washington and foreign correspondent. But what caused most wonderment—and consternation—was his striking, almost sensational, analysis of Roosevelt expenditures, financial policies and underlying philosophy. The Democrats don't fear Mr. Hoover as a G. O. P. presidential candidate but they have a new regard for him as an orator.

The Palo Alto exile seems to have regained confidence in himself. He knows he is good—or better. He sent two copies of his latest address to every Washington correspondent. They bore this label on the envelopes: "Hoover's speech. News. Rush." That's a new wrinkle in political publicity.

NOTES

House lobby committee will put three western utility concerns on the carpet for lobbying against the utility bill. J. L. Martin, administrator of NRA, has cut his force down to 2300. Public school teachers in the District of Columbia can't draw pay until they certify that they haven't taught communism. The real draftsman of trade agreements is Francis B. Sayre, assistant secretary of state.

EXALTATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The promulgation of the U. S.-Canada tariff treaty was staged here with what the critics would have termed the trimmings of an extravaganza. It was a lighthearted mood, offstage and on, than any other act of the New Deal thus far.

A 15,000-word defense was issued by the president. The signing was staged for the movies. Newsmen were called in to watch. They were later assembled in the president's study for private explanations, a procedure usually reserved for the annual budget promulgations.

The Canadians whooped it up equally as much. The premier made two trips to Washington, flummoxed statements. His most annoying one was issued apparently indirectly after he got back home. Canadians then implied that he outsmarted the Yankee traders by giving them nothing more than they had in 1930, while he walked off with additional agricultural concessions.

DISAGREEMENT

This ballyhoo may have been partly political, but the personal pleasure of all parties seemed to be genuine. What made Messrs. Roosevelt and Hull so glad apparently was the fact that it was the first major accomplishment they were able to show for their long labors on a new international trade policy. Also they seemed to have convinced themselves that it will make for bigger trade.

Upon this question the most trustworthy non-partisan economists here are not in agreement. It seems improbable that the economic seedlings of the treaty will ripen within eight to ten months. Full effects will hardly be evident within a year.

WATCHING

Tankee traders were less upset than you may have imagined about loud protests from American lumber and whisky interests. They agreed among themselves beforehand that the liquor lobbyists could be put in their place because domestic stocks of aged liquor are deficient, but that the lumber storm would probably have to be faced.

What the traders have been really afraid of, and are yet, is the fruit reaction. They fixed up the fruit farmers at the last minute by getting Canada to put oranges on the free list. But they are eagerly reading every word of reaction from the other farm areas.

PARLOR TALK

A new kind of political argument, yet unheard in public speeches, appears to be sweeping the bridge tables of the East. It is to the effect that the defeat of President Roosevelt next year by an adversary, however worthy, would mean another upset in government dismissal of all who now have federal jobs, abolition of relief, a complete change of policies which would be economically bad, if not disastrous.

Parlor talk is highly important politically. How it starts no one knows or can prove, but notions are thus widely spread among the great masses of people who are too deeply involved in their own affairs to spend much time personally studying the ins and outs of economic or political issues. Sometimes these parlor notions become national impressions without being publicly debated by the political leaders.

This particular one will not long remain in the parlor category. The Republicans are somewhat worried about it.

RED TAPE

Another side of the relief story which you rarely hear was offered the other day by a mother of seven. She wrote to an influential authority here, relating her experiences in seeking relief, as follows: "Well I paid my visit to the wonderful relief unit. After waiting 21-2 hours to be interviewed by a prominent attorney's wife—who wanted to know the true story of 51 years and 9 months of my life. Also the history of everyone in the home. Wanted me to get certificates of birth of two youngsters in their eleventh year. Also authentic report of deaths of their kin, trace up their ancestry for 3 generations back to find out who the government could make support them. Also get references from the last place three of working age in the home are employed, bring in the rent book and get a statement sworn to before a notary from one of the neighbors to prove I had been living at . . . during 1933.

"After complying with the best part, went back yesterday at 9, staying until 11:30 to be told by a Mrs. . . . nothing could be done to help me for 20 days until November 5. Was told to give a promissory note to a grocer to turn over my father's pension check to allow me food during that period. I told her it was entirely out of my hands to make a promise like that. I told her I wouldn't take any chance being set out on the sidewalk as I was positive the city wouldn't permit me to camp there with furniture and family of seven

Late News From Fullerton And Vicinity

HOME. FOREIGN MISSION WORK IS DISCUSSED

FULLERTON, Nov. 20.—Studies of phases of foreign and home missionary work and international problems were made Tuesday when members of the Home and Foreign Mission societies of the Fullerton Methodist church met for an all-day session at the church.

The new plan of unified meeting being tried by the societies included a luncheon program for both groups, presented under the chairmanship of Mrs. S. W. Windle, who introduced John Tuffree, of Placentia, who showed pictures of South America.

"It is a sorry thought to know that the same kind of exploitation of small nations by big nations is continuing," he said. "Through these countries where I took pictures we see traces of an exploited civilization and culture. The same thing is continuing today as in the case of Italy and Ethiopia."

Mrs. S. W. Smith presided at the business meeting of the Home Mission society in the morning, and introduced Mrs. C. Montague and Mrs. Dora Gunnett, who brought reports from the national convention at Des Moines.

Mrs. S. W. Douglas presented the goals of the foreign society when she presided at their short business meeting and appointed Mrs. Grace Ford as chairman of a program for the December meeting when each attendant is to bring a short report on "What I Have Done Toward World Peace."

Mrs. Ford said yesterday: "I thank God that the gospel of peace has spread and that men at San Pedro and other ports are refusing to work on boats bound for the war zone."

Mrs. R. E. Corcoran led the devotions at the luncheon table and Mrs. E. Dow Hoffman introduced Mrs. William Montague and Mrs. J. Scott, who sang a duet. Mrs. Douglas introduced the many guests attending.

Mrs. Smith will be in charge of the program at the December meeting.

WORK STARTED
ON TWO STREET
IMPROVEMENT

FULLERTON, Nov. 20.—Report on two street projects now under way in Fullerton, in charge of Herman Hiltcher, city engineer, the widening and realignment of Brea road from Harvard avenue to Barbara avenue, and the construction of the Basque bridge and grading of Basque avenue, were given the city council meeting Tuesday night.

The first project, which also includes some work on the state highway north of Fullerton, is being done with $15,660, the first quarter of the half cent state gas tax allocation to Fullerton. The second is from the gas tax money returned to Fullerton through the county supervisors. The present amount being $2000, making a total of $5500.

Councilmen passed final resolutions of agreement for those funds.

Three bids for garbage collection were opened and placed in the hands of a committee for decision. The lowest bid on a three-year basis was $300 a month for the third year. The highest bid was $475 for the first year.

The Whitaker Disposal company bid as follows: $450 the first year, $400 the second, and $349 the third year.

William Pratty of Buena Park bid $330 the first, $310 the second and $200 the third year and John Burnett, at present in charge of the work in Fullerton, bid $475 the first year, $450 the second and $450 the third year.

Councilmen authorized an ordinance to be prepared changing the name of a short strip of street known as Central avenue, between

Harvard avenue and the new dis-junior college campus to Col-lage place.

E. Reed, agent at the Santa Ana depot, complained of the delay in connection with a ferry held up on East America, suggested the city officials arrange for the actual ferrying to be done further away in the congested district. The city referred the complaint to fire chief and fire committee.

S. A. FIRM GETS FRANCHISE FOR NASH CAR LINE

The appointment of R. W. Townsend, 310-12 East Fifth street, as dealer for Nash and LaFayette automobiles in this territory was announced today by the Nash-LaFayette distributor, Townsend.

Townsend will start operations under the Nash franchise at once, and expects to receive first shipments of cars within a few days.

This will include models in the Nash Ambassador and "400" series, as well as the LaFayette, Nash's "big car" entry in the low price field. A formal opening of the show room with a preview of the new cars will be held soon.

Townsend, who made a survey of the entire industry before affiliating himself with Nash, feels that the line this year represents an outstanding automotive achievement.

"I am decidedly enthusiastic about what we will have to offer as Nash dealers," he said today. "We can offer a car to suit every purse and every driving need, and in addition we can give features never before heard of in cars of similar price. Starting with the low-priced LaFayette, in which, in addition to its extra size and roominess, are found at least 10 features usually included only on cars in the highest price brackets, we will have cars to suit every purse and every driving need."

In connection with their dealership the Townsend company will operate a modern and completely equipped department for servicing Nash and other makes of cars.

CANTANDO CLUB OPENS 10TH SEASON UNDER NEW LEADER; CONCERT PLEASES AUDIENCE

By ELEANOR ELLIOTT

Opening their first concert of this, their tenth consecutive season, Cantando club members last night maintained a definitely reverent theme for their first three ensemble numbers, "Adoremus Te" (Palestrina), "Break Forth, O Beauteous, Heavenly Light" (Bach) and "Salvation Belongeth to Our God" (Tchesnokov) all of which were sung a capella.

The concert was given in Orange with "Tally-Ho" (Leon-Lord), "Bugle Song" (Footie) and "I Have a Rendezvous With Life" (Thayer-O'Hara). The final number met with special approval and the club graciously recognized the interest by repeating the final bars.

The opening group included in addition to the sacred numbers, the definitely accented March Militaire of Schubert-Branscombe, "On to Victory" for which Miss Ruth Armstrong, club accompanist, made her first appearance on the program.

Guest Artist Pleases
In presenting as guest artist, George Garner, famous Negro tenor, Cantando club fulfilled every promise made as to the exceptional quality of his voice. Rich and sonorous and with an unusual range, it had those depths of color that seem a racial characteristic. There was no possible disappointment on the part of the audience in the tonal quality and beauty of his singing, but expressions of disappointment were heard over the fact that he substituted for the Beethoven "Adeleide" programmed, a group of Negro spirituals, in response to a request.

The spirituals were very interesting and were sung with a world of expression and beauty, but since his second appearance on the program was in a similar group, many in the audience would have liked to hear the Beethoven composition. However, enjoyment of his voice was so complete that there could be nothing but satisfaction. With his wife, Netta Paulyn Garner, playing a sympathetic accompaniment, he sang "I Want to Be Ready to Walk in Jerusalem" and what he characterized as a "Negro sermon," a lyric by Paul Lawrence Dunbar. For encore he returned to sing "Little David, Play on Your Harp."

In his second group of the evening, the tenor chose three spirituals, all of which had been arranged by Mrs. Garner, as talented a pianist as her husband is a soloist. They were "Roll Jordan, Roll," "Talk About a Chile" and "Every Time I Feel the Spirit" with "Who'll Be a Witness For My Lord" added as an encore.

Wider Variety
Ensemble numbers following the intermission expressed wider variety than on the first half of the program, and gave opportunity for solo work on the part of two Cantando club members. They were R. J. Parks, singing a tenor solo in "Heidelberg" (from "The Prince of Pilsen") and C. H. Schuyler, baritone soloist in "Trump! Trump! Trump!" another light opera number from "Naughty Marietta" by Victor Herbert.

Nathan Haskell Dole's short but striking "Fireflies"; "Orientale" (Cesar Cui) with violin obbligato by Valeska Porter, and "The Sleigh" (Kountz-Baldwin) formed one interesting group. "The Sleigh," evidently a favorite from earlier concerts, was repeated in response to applause. Following the second group by the guest artist, the club program concluded

ANNUAL JAYSEE DANCE IS SET FOR SATURDAY

Final plans for the annual Bachelors' ball for the students of the Santa Ana Junior college were completed today, according to Bill Dunston, president of the Bachelors' service club. The ball is slated for Saturday night at the Lake Norconian club, near Corona.

Dunston predicts the attendance of approximately 400 persons. It will be preceded by the annual banquet for members and alumni of the bachelors' organization and their guests. Director and Mrs. D. K. Hammond and Dean and Mrs. Calvin C. Flint will be guests of honor at the dinner.

Shirley's 10-piece orchestra from Long Beach has been secured for the evening. Dunston stated that in the past the ball has proven to be the outstanding social event of the school year.

Dancing will begin at 9 a. m. in the main ballroom of the club. This is the second major school dance to be held this semester by the college and the first this year to be held outside of Santa Ana. The ball was held last year in the Mission Inn at Riverside. This year's dance will be the eleventh to be staged by the Bachelors.

IRISH POTATO GROWERS WILL MEET MONDAY

Arrangements have been made by the farm adviser's office for a meeting of potato growers on Monday, November 25, 3 p. m. at the farm bureau office, 622 North Main street, Santa Ana, to explain the potato program under the agricultural adjustment act according to W. M. Cory, assistant farm adviser.

All Irish-potato growers must file an application for a potato sales allotment if they wish to avoid payment of a tax assessed at the rate of three-fourths cent per pound at the time of sale.

This program is advanced by the growers as a means of establishing prices to potato producers at a level that will give potatoes a purchasing power with respect to articles that farmers buy equivalent to the purchasing power of potatoes in the period August 1919-July 1929.

The farm adviser's office is charged with the responsibility of informing growers of the details of the program and to assist in carrying on the program here in the county.

Application blanks are available at the farm adviser's office in the court house annex, Santa Ana, and will be available at the meeting. In the meantime growers could hasten their filling out of the blanks by checking over their records pertaining to acres harvested and total sales in the years of 1932 to 1935 inclusive.

Motor vehicle taxes approximately 1,000,000,000 annually.

In Old New York...

By George Ross

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Big Town Trivia: Fewer hansom cabs, the last relics of yesterday, seem to be billeted in front of the Plaza. . . . There was some rum-pus on Fifth avenue when Colin Kieth-Johnson, the British actor, chased a butterfly across the street for his collection. Without a net.

They tell me about a radio program director who keeps three rooms, in assorted color schemes, for various kinds of auditions; blue for the children's hour broadcast, black and chromium for orchestra music, kitchen-white for recipe spiels. The right shade, he said, gets him into the mood.

On the Broadway rounds, at the moment, is the yarn about the six acrobats who applied for jobs in the new WPA circus at a local armory. They came attired in Arabian costume and seemed in dire need of the jobs. A stage name was sought for them. "But we're the Hassan Ben Yousoff Sextette," their leader announced. "Let's call it the Hassan Ben Ami Six," a WPA man suggested. The man in the Arabian mufti murmured, "Well, if you must change our billing," he murmured, "Why not label us the Hassan Ben Eatin' Troupe." Which is how they are now listed in programs.

Long Range Fighter
Enzo Piermonte, the Tarzan-esque Roman who married into the Astor clan, was saving recently that he would return to the scene of the Italo-Ethiopian fracas. But the other evening, while Italy's guns frowned down over Aksum, Enzo was seen sitting quietly in the Cafe Trouville, absorbed in a bagatelle board, oblivious to his country's military fortunes.

Names one can't help remembering: Gogo De Lys, the radio singer whose real name, by the way, happens to be Marie Jeanne Gabrielle Germaine Belzemyre Belanger; Vega Asp, a dancer at the French Casino; G. N. Ustick, a stamp dealer on Park Row.

Rarely does the jury, drawn from the audience at the trick courtroom drama, "The Night of January 14," return with a verdict of "Guilty." Soft-hearted playgoers who get $3 for serving in the panel, anyway, see no point in giving the play an unhappy ending. This chicken-hearted attitude has troubled Producer Al Woods, who believes the lovely defendant did it and who sat in the panel himself last week to swing the jurors over to a "Guilty" verdict. He failed.

And so he enlisted Dudley Field Malone, a veteran attorney, the next evening to join the twelve good men and true. The lawyer had no trouble at all with the boys; he got a first degree murder verdict back within a quarter of an hour.

Game Effort

Just the other day, your correspondent was boasting of a New York hotel courtesy to the ex-Crown Prince of Spain. And now I hear of a little extra service recently dispensed by the Waldorf-Astoria. It seems a friend of Evelyn Laye and Frank Lawton, the English stars, stopped at the desk of the Waldorf and left a brace of freshly-caught grouse for the players. But the Lawtons had already checked out for Hollywood. Whereupon, the Waldorf wrapped the game in a nice, plain wrapper, stamped it and delivered it to the postoffice, only to discover that grouse can not be sent through the mail.

Well, it was quite a problem, but trust Oscar of the Waldorf to be ready for any emergency. He sent the grouse up to the chef, had them roasted and sent them that day by plane across the continent to the Lawton's dinner table.

YOUTHS ARRESTED ON BATTERY COUNT

Two youths who are asserted to have run over a man in his back yard as a Halloween prank, were arrested by Santa Ana police yesterday on a complaint signed by W. H. Booth, the victim, and are being held on criminal charges.

Cecil Starnes, 19, of 2001 Maple street and Lewis Sherman, 18, of 1054 West Chestnut street were arrested on battery charges. Both claimed they were in Anaheim at the time Booth was knocked down, police said.

Booth said that on Halloween night, the youths were in his back yard and he went out to investigate when they ran over him, knocking him down.

DOTS AND DASHES AND ONE OR TWO FLASHES

Coach "Stub" Allison of California Grid Race. The two teams tied for first place. Harry Tanaka, Anaheim, hit the touchdown terror, a brother of "Ken" Tanaka, Santa Ana Jaycee halfback of a few years ago. Attention, "Daddy" Cook.

A mild rebuke to Saint officials for their delay in opening up extra ticket windows for the Santa Ana Jaycee game. "Indignant Fan" tells me he arrived at Poly field 15 minutes before game-time, was still standing far back in line at the kickoff because they were dispensing tickets at only one window. He finally got a seat after the teams had been playing ten minutes.

On another occasion, while playing in his own territory, and seeing that a high punt was sailing over his head, Blower signaled for a fair catch on the 12-yard line. The ball rolled on to the end zone for a touchback, and California took it on the 20-yard line instead of perhaps on the five, for Washington's end, who might have downed it, slowed up instead when he signaled the fair catch.

natural and logical the press lads should try to track down some system whereby there will be a tie (and a playoff) which involves our Santa Ana Dons. But my frank opinion is that no playoff will be needed. I look for Riverside to thrash Chaffey Thanksgiving Day, win a clear shot at the Eastern Jaycee conference championship. If they do the Bengals are entitled to more than passing mention for it will be the third year in succession the inlanders have come from far behind to grab the sweepstakes. Teams coached by Jesse Mortensen lost mighty few ball games in November. Lanky Jesse is the Lynn Waldorf of the Jaycees.

Ernie Johnson, the Red Sox scout, is back from a month of hunting and fishing in the Shasta region. Caught in a storm which even knocked big trees across the road, he traveled only eight miles one day. Ed Covington, ex-Saint football coach, has his Calico eleven right up there again this season. Calico meets El Centro Thanksgiving Day to decide the valley championship. If you'll thumb back through your Register files to October 17 you'll find a headline which says: "Favor Anaheim, Brea in County

HOPPE AGAIN FAILS TO WIN 3-CUSHIONS

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Willie Hoppe, bitterly disappointed over his fourth failure to win the world's three-cushion billiard tournament, will meet Arthur Turnblad tonight in a playoff for second place.

The former "boy wonder" was defeated by Welker Cochran of San Francisco, another former "boy wonder," in the finals, 50 to 46, last night.

Cochran received approximately $5000 cash as the champion's share of the gate receipts. Cochran made seven straight billiards to run out on Hoppe after trailing 43 to 46 at the end of 44 innings. The lead changed nine times and both missed many shots by the barest fraction of an inch. The world's three-cushion title is the only major championship Hoppe never has won. Last night's victory was the second for Cochran, however. He won it in 1932 and finished second a year ago.

GARDEN GROVE AND LAGUNA BEACH MIX

Class A football teams of Garden Grove and Laguna Beach high schools tangle in Garden Grove at 8 p. m. tomorrow, playing off their percentage tie in the Orange League.

LONG BEACH ON '36 DON CARD. STANFORD TOO?

Although in the midst of an Eastern Jaycee conference rough-and-tumble in which his Santa Ana Dons are still "mathematical possibilities," Coach Bill Cook today temporarily turned his thoughts to next year.

Cook has begun the task of padding his 1936 football schedule, partially filled yesterday by the announcement of conference dates.

The Dons, Coach Cook stated definitely, will open the '36 campaign against Long Beach, a Western division college that has never beaten Santa Ana.

Cook also disclosed a tentative agreement with Stanford University officials whereby Santa Ana would play the Cardinal freshmen here next fall. The general understanding is that this will become an annual contest, the Dons traveling to Palo Alto every other season.

Resolving to give his reserves another chance at the glory that goes with starting a football game, Cook revealed that his starting lineup against Occidental Jaycee Friday night will be the same as the one that performed so well against the U.C.L.A. freshmen two weeks ago.

On that occasion the Dons' "shock troops" showed possibilities by holding the formidable Westwood Cubs in check for the entire first quarter. The work of the so-called "forgotten men" illustrated that the reserves are second stringers in name only.

Subject to change here is the eleven that Bill Cook will probably use the first quarter against Occidental: Fred Erdhaus, le; Charles Roemer, rt; Harold Mosiman, lg; Les Minder, c; Dick DeSmet, rg; Dick Shepard, rt; Harry Stanley, le; Bruce Harnois, c; Dave Phoenix, lg; Ralph Comstock, rg; Alvin Lamb, f.

Comstock, who called plays against Pomona, may get the call at quarter, Cook said. Dave Phoenix, burly halfback from Newport Harbor, has not participated in an Eastern conference skirmish because he wishes to save his eligibility for two more years of Jaycee football.

DONS OPEN AGAINST CONCORDIA QUINTET

Unveiled to the public eye for the first time this season, Santa Ana junior college's basketball team makes its debut against the powerful Orange Concordia club tonight at 8 o'clock in the high school gymnasium.

From his squad of 20, Coach Al Rebohn has selected two complete units which will perform during the first half. Three lettermen—Tom Lacy, John Henry, and LaVern Brown—have clinched starting positions at forward, guard and center, respectively. Lacy last year was chosen all-conference forward. Len Lockhart, first string guard at Santa Ana high, and Clarence ("Tay") Riggs, forward, transfer from Illinois, round out the starting five.

The personnel of the second team is Russ Furry, Brawley Jaycee transfer, and Jensen, forwards; Bob Browning, center; and James Haardstad and Charley Kiser, guards.

Joe Baden's Concordians are an aggregate of former Jaycee and high school stars who compose one of the county's ablest quintets. Most of the men who defeated the Dons 32-26 last winter have returned and the club is certain of giving Rebohn's basketball an acid test. Walt Gunther, former Don football star, Clarence and Bob Parge, Nelson Struck and Lawrence Leichtfuss from the Concordia nucleus.

New rules prescribed for this season, at least, shooting must be confined to daylight hours—7 a. m. to 4 p. m. Ten ducks and four geese constitute the bag limit. Another new law prohibits shooting waterfowl from boats more than 100 feet from shore.

Principal shooting was expected at the numerous gun clubs throughout the county. The fish and game commission reported that 95 per cent of the ducks taken last year were shot on private or club grounds.

Specialists To Study Grid Star's Injury

FULLERTON, Nov. 20.—The condition of Ray Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Berry of La Habra who was injured in a football game last Friday, seemed improved today, although he still is in a serious condition.

Los Angeles specialists were summoned this morning.

A second blood transfusion was administered yesterday by another of the football squad, Leland Launer.

Tanaka High Scorer Of County League

Spritley Harry Tanaka, fast and shifty Japanese halfback of the Anaheim Colonists, made 48 points to lead the Orange league's individual scorers for the 1935 football season.

Blanked in Anaheim's first game with Newport Harbor and its last with Orange, little Tanaka ran amuck in the Garden Grove, Tustin and Huntington Beach games for a total of eight touchdowns. LeRoy Laing, Brea's 155-pound halfback, finished second to Tanaka with 42 points, making three touchdowns in the last game of the regular schedule.

Two Valencia stars, Quarterback Del Jones and Fullback Roy Parker, tied for the third spot at 36. They helped the Placencia team win team scoring honors with a conference aggregate of 107 to Anaheim's 105 and Brea's 91. Anaheim had the best of it defensively, its goal-line being uncrossed. San Juan Capistrano was the only school to score on Brea-Olinda.

SANTS IN FOR TOUGH CONTEST WITH POMONA

Santa Ana high school's final football game will be just about as tough as all the others.

Coach Bill Foote's Saints go to Pomona Friday afternoon, and they'll be up against a big, stubborn team that has been well tested against serious competition.

Known as the Red Devils, the Pomonans are handled by Archie Nesbit, great punting halfback for California's Golden Bears in 1921-1922. Nesbit was the man whose long distance booting saved the Bears' goose in the Rose Bowl conflict with Washington and Jefferson in 1922.

The Saints resumed practice yesterday and will be near full strength for the Red Devils. Coach Foote said. There is a chance that both Bill Musick and Len Stafford, injured backs, will see action.

JACK BRITTINGHAM TO START FOR CAL.

BERKELEY, Nov. 20.—(UP)—California's hopes for victory in Saturday's game with Stanford boomed today when physicians announced Jack Brittingham, star Bear right end, probably will be in shape to start the contest. The wingman suffered a leg injury in California's game with Washington two weeks ago.

Coach "Stub" Allison, coach of the undefeated Bears, continued to favor 10-8 odds with disfavor and predict defeat for his team. But he has done so for every game this year.

SIGN SANDOR SZABO TO WRESTLE DAVIS

It appears as though "Wee Willie" Davis, six-foot-four 347-pound West Virginia rougher, has reached the end of his winning streak here. Next Monday night Davis faces the Hungarian Adonis, and one of the leading exponents of scientific wrestling, Sandor Szabo, in a best two-out-of-three fall mat feature at the Orange County Athletic club.

Szabo was signed yesterday following Davis' rather hollow victory Monday night over Casey Kazanjian.

Szabo hasn't appeared in the O. C. A. ring for several months, having confined his activities to Los Angeles where more than 20,000 fans saw him in two bouts against Vincent Lopez.

PAUL TO TELL ABOUT OWENS OVER RADIO

Norman Paul, captain of last year's U. S. C. national championship track team and former holder of the world's record in the 220 yard low hurdles, will be on the radio tomorrow and talk about the man who broke his record, Jesse Owens of Ohio State.

Paul will speak over KREG, at 5:30. He now is an instructor in physical education in the Santa Ana adult education department.

'BONES' MAKING HIS POINT

Here's a pass that was a natural—right into the arms of "Bones" Hamilton. Stanford's great blocking back, shown here catching a touchdown pass against Montana, is fit again after a series of injuries that has kept him on the bench most of the season. He'll start against California Saturday.

CAROLINANS STILL DRINKING FOOTBALL FANS LIKE 'CORN'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Since the repeal of prohibition, your footloose and blue-eyed correspondent has eaten in on many a sports event in many a state, including jittery.

Ever keen and observant, he has noticed how comparatively little drinking the boys and girls are doing these days. He has often asked himself (always out loud, which caused people to turn and stare at him) just why this was.

Was it because the customers had become so vitally interested in sports that they didn't want to be bothered while a glorious spectacle was being enacted in front of them? Or was it the repeal of prohibition that had something to do with the absence of flasks and bottles on the hip?

Folks, I think I found my answer last Saturday at the North Carolina-Duke game in Durham. The county in North Carolina in which Durham is located is legally bone-dry, but let me tell you that not since the repeal of the amendment have I seen such a two-fisted, stomped-down, aiming-to-get-drunk drinking. Three-two beer is supposed to be the strongest beverage sold in Durham, and if it 3.2 makes people jump through hedges, fight when a hat wasn't even dropped, and sing quartets composed of four different songs, then I got cheated on what little 3.2 I ever bought.

When I walked out back of the stadium during the half I had to shake myself once to believe that it wasn't a football game as I might have been at before repeal. And I had to shake myself a second time to swallow the last

MINOR LEAGUE BASEBALL MEN IN CONVENTION

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Catcher John Bottarini, traded by Seattle last week to Sacramento for Pitchers Lou Koupal and Paul Gregory, has been purchased outright by the Los Angeles Angels, David Fleming, president of the club, announced today. The purchase price was not announced.

DAYTON, O., Nov. 20.—(UP)—Nearly 700 baseball magnates and officials from all parts of the country gathered here today for the opening session of the annual three-day minor league baseball meeting.

All major league clubs are represented and may supply the big news. Many of the major league club owners and managers are in a trading mood.

Max Bishop, American league second baseman cut adrift by the Boston Red Sox, signed to manage the Portland Pacific Coast league club.

Pitcher "Bud" Tinning, formerly with the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals, was released on waivers to Indianapolis by the Columbus American association club.

The first action taken by the majors was by the New York Yankees, who signed Earl Coombs, veteran outfielder as a coach for next season, replacing Joe Sewell. Sewell is after a minor league managerial berth.

A three-cornered deal between the Yankees, Red Sox and Senators is understood to be under negotiation. The reported deal has Heinie Manush and Jack Russell going from Washington to Boston; Ben Chapman, Jimmy DeShong and Johnny Murphy going from New York to Washington; and Jonathan Stone and "Bump" Hadley from Washington and Roy Johnson from Boston to New York.

Branch Rickey, vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals; Bill Terry, New York Giant's manager and Rogers Hornsby, St. Louis Browns' manager are all here and in a trading mood.

Blacky said only eight Cardinals were sure of their jobs next season. He named Frisch, the two Deans, Moore, Collins, Medwick, Durocher and Haines. Rickey is said to be after Carl Hubbell, Giants' southpaw. Two Cardinal players who are coveted by Terry are First Baseman Collins and Infielder Burgess Whitehead.

NEW K. O. KING TO BOX HERE THURSDAY

Eddie Grogan, the Huntington Park middleweight knockout artist, makes his first fight away from his home arena tomorrow night when he steps into the Orange County Athletic club ring for a four-rounder against Bill Castorena of Compton.

Although Grogan has been a sensation at Gene Doyle's Huntington Park arena, where he punched his way to 19 consecutive knockout victories, just what he'll be able to do away from the Park club and without the cheers of his followers, remains to be seen. Because his backers also were skeptical, Grogan was signed to box here before entering the Golden Gloves tourney at Hollywood.

Castorena is capable of giving the highly rated Grogan plenty of trouble. The Compton fighter has fought such men as Lupe Lemon and Ralph Holquin.

Don Benzon, an entrant in the "Golden Gloves" from Orange county, meets "Frenchy" Chacon in a return match in the semi, with Leo (Chief) Lopez battling Howard Caldwell in the flyweight special.

JURY WORKERS NOW CHECKING OFFICE RECORDS

Affording opportunity for grand jury auditors to continue an investigation demanded by Supervisor N. E. West of County Recorder Justine Whitney's accounts, the grand jury adjourned until next Monday morning at the close of yesterday's session.

During yesterday's session of the grand jury, witnesses called before the jury included Supervisor West, who was the first witness; County Auditor W. B. Lambert, District Attorney William F. Menton, Chairman John Mitchell of the board of supervisors, Deputy Auditor Les Eckles and Misses Gladys Field and Williamson, deputies in the recorder's office. Robert Mize, attorney who has represented Miss Whitney before, was another witness.

There appeared to be no letdown in the probe today, and auditors employed by the grand jury continued a search of the records in the recorder's office. It was indicated that the grand jury intends to make a thorough investigation.

District Attorney Menton, who was called as a witness yesterday, is making his own investigation of the situation which flared into the open with a letter by Supervisor West to Foreman W. W. Hay of the grand jury, requesting investigation of rumors that a shortage existed in the recorder's office and that the recorder had filed a false affidavit. Menton said it would remain for an investigation to show whether the settlement was accurate and in full, and therefore, whether false affidavit had been made.

It has been admitted that the October settlement made by the recorder's office had been delayed beyond the legal limit established by statute. Supervisor West had indicated that there was a disposition in official circles to "cover up" the matter. The district attorney had retorted with a statement that he had been making an investigation upon authorization of the board of supervisors.

Bell is held at the Sacramento county hospital, where he assertedly confessed his accomplice murdered Robert Acquapace during a Napa robbery. Pedrini, officials revealed, meantime is being held in the Sonoma county jail at Fairfield by officers who feared to return him to Napa because of possibilities of mob violence.

MARCH FIELD OFFICER PREDICTS GREAT INCREASE IN AIR CORPS EFFECTIVENESS

Vast increases in the mobility, usefulness and general effectiveness of the United States Air Corps in the future were forecast today by Major J. A. Madarasz, March Field, who was the speaker at the Santa Ana Kiwanis club.

Major Madarasz outlined the growth of the air force, from the time of the world war, when it was a supporting force to the main army unit, known as the air service, to the present well organized general headquarters.

The main objective of the force in its recent growth, he said, is to broaden its activities and give it enough latitude to be used as a separate army attack and defense unit.

In case of attack on the coast, the Major said, the first line of defense ordinarily would be the fleet, which, however, is not mobile enough to be immediately effective. It is there, he said, that the air force would come into its own, in laying an attack on the attacking fleet, keeping its ships on carrier decks and harassing troop ships.

The speaker also discussed the alignment of the air force, its divisions into eastern and western fleets, and the probable future of the force. He mentioned particularly the new Martin bombers, which will have a cruising speed of more than 200 miles an hour.

In concluding his talk Major Madarasz said that in his belief gas definitely would be used in the next major war, probably to a greater extent than before. Colonel M. B. Wellington acted as program chairman.

TEACHERS WIN, 24-13

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 20.—The basketball team of the Inland Teachers' league, which is organized to play 21 games, played Monday evening in the first game of the season at Huntington Beach, winning over the Windsor club team by a score of 24-13. One game either Monday or Wednesday evening of each week will be played by the locals in the eight-team league.

Francis J. Dell, Orion Behermeyer, Claude Hardesty and M. Hill of Westminster; Roscoe Bradbury, Wesley Cowling, David Gardner and W. Blaylock of Oceanview, and Hollis Fitz of Talbert, played in Monday night's game.

He helped the Jackson mob plan things in advance. He told them, beforehand, how to dodge the law. He helped frame crooked alibis for them, on occasion—as he did when the Dover police were on the verge of pinning a robbery charge on Sandy Hopkins. He helped them dispose of their stolen bonds—as he did in the affair that almost got Bobby Wallace into a jam.

"That's a hard one to figure, by the way—why they should have shoved those bonds through an outsider like Bobby. The reason, I presume, was that they figured it would leave everybody in the clear if it did stop there. He, who passed the bonds, would be gone. Montague, who bought them from Bobby, would be able to tell a story which, while manifestly rather absurd, would still leave him technically innocent, and Bobby would have had to take the rap."

Junior College Dean Speaker At 20-30 Club Meet

Calvin Flint, dean of men at Santa Ana junior college, was the featured speaker at last night's meeting of the Santa Ana 20-30 club, discussing conditions in Soviet Russia.

Flint told of Soviet methods of controlling propaganda and the national spirit. He said that there was a considerable number of radio sets in western Russia, all of them set to pick up only three government-controlled stations.

He also said that it was extremely difficult for the visitor to the Soviet to get an accurate picture of the country, as all information is so carefully edited and purified before it is allowed to get out. Every visitor is given a guide, he said, under orders to say only the right things.

Flint also discussed briefly lesser known aspects of the country, as seen in his recent sojourn there. Wayne Harrison presided over the meeting, with Dick Ewert acting as program chairman.

STRANGE DEATH OF NAVY FLIER PROBED

CORONADO, Calif., Nov. 20.—(UP)—The strange death of Lieut. Cornelius O'Connor, 32-year-old navy flier from Pensacola, Fla., puzzled police here today.

In 40 minutes she lost that gamble when a jury last night told her she was guilty of first degree murder and fined her $5000 and 25 years imprisonment. A long, approving chorus of "ah" rose in the court room, packed with the hill people. They had seen their own ideas of life and morality vindicated in "movment" court and they were happy.

Here from Pensacola two weeks ago, O'Connor had been chief test pilot for the navy there the past 16 months.

"Anyhow, that's what Montague was like. You worked for him. He introduced you to the manager of the Golden Feather Night club. Naturally, thinking that he was a perfectly respectable person, you were not suspicious of people to whom the manager, in turn, introduced you."

"And then this final stunt of Montague's—sending you off to carry a letter of Harkins. That was where he overplayed his hand a little. He believed, I guess, that you were so deeply involved with Harkins that you either knew all about Harkins' record or would be unable to back out when you learned it."

"At any rate, he had to get this document to the Jackson outfit. Montague has owned French Pete's place for several years. It's an ideal place for a hideout for a gang that's dodging the law, but it's not good for much of anything else. As an investment, it's a complete wash-out. What Montague wanted to do was simply transfer title to the place to Jackson himself."

"That was what you took down there—faked papers, by which it appeared that Jackson had come into ownership of the place some six or seven years ago, at the time this man Roudboud got rid of it. It had never actually been carried in Montague's own name, by the way. Included in the package were directions on how to get there, and a note to the caretaker instructing him to turn everything over to Jackson. Harkins and Lewis went on ahead, took the place over, and then burned this note. Harkins told me that, along with some other stuff, before he died."

"Montague, do you see, thought you were an ideal messenger. He thought that sending them papers with you was infinitely safer than trying to get an underworld messenger through. He never expected you to come back, and he didn't especially care. The Jackson gang, I should add, had planned to lie low there for six months or a year, until the turore died down in this part of the country."

He smiled. "You more than made up for everything when you shot Jackson," he added. "And that reminds me—Bobby has atoned for his slip in the matter of the bonds, too. He was able to give my office enough information and evidence to warrant a raid on an obnoxious place of business, out on the southeastern edge of town. We descended on it today—and found Bobby's employer, Mark Hopkins, being—po-lite."

Scouts Hold Court Of Honor Friday

BUENA PARK, Nov. 20.—Troup stunts by boys from Fullerton, Brea, Placentia, La Habra and Buena Park will feature the program to be presented in the Grand avenue school auditorium Friday evening in conjunction with the Northern Orange county Boy Scout court of honor. R. W. Blose, chairman of the citizens' committee sponsoring the Buena Park troop is in charge of the program.

EXTRA DIVIDEND IS PAID BY HOMESTAKE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Homestake Gold Mining company, richest mining company in the United States, today declared a "special extra" dividend of $20 per share in addition to its regular $1 monthly dividend for November and a $2 extra dividend for November.

This special extra dividend makes Homestake's return so far this year $58 per share, the highest return in the company's history.

Fred T. Elsey, vice president of Homestake, told the United Press there was "nothing unusual" about this high return.

"We are able to pay it out of our depletion reserve," he said. Elsey also is president of the American Trust company of San Francisco.

"All gold mining companies are prosperous this year because of the higher price for gold," Elsey added.

GIRL WHO KILLED FATHER SENTENCED

WISE, Va., Nov. 20.—(UP)—Edith Maxwell must spend 25 years in prison because the law of the courts and the law of the mountains agreed it is a sin for a 21-year-old girl to stay out after 9 o'clock at night.

This girl, who beat her father to death with a shoe when he tried to whip her after she came home one July midnight from a date, staked her freedom on the belief that the dead hand of yesterday no longer rules the lives of youth.

In 40 minutes she lost that gamble when a jury last night told her she was guilty of first degree murder and fined her $5000 and 25 years imprisonment. PATROL BOAT AT HUNTINGTON BEACH NEWPORT THURSDAY

Orange county residents will have an opportunity to inspect the new patrol boat of the California fish and game commission at Huntington Beach and Newport Beach tomorrow.

The boat, the "Broadbill," will be at Huntington Beach about noon and the officers and representatives of the state commission will be guests of Huntington Beach civic leaders.

An official reception is planned at Newport Beach with Sam Meyer, Newport publisher, in charge of program arrangements. Mayor Hermann Hilmer, Dan Mulherson, president of the Orange County Coast association, and others will be on hand to greet the officers and crew. The boat which was commissioned a few days ago at Wilmington, will be stationed in Newport harbor. It is expected to dock at the Washington street pier shortly before 4 o'clock.

The new craft will open for public inspection at both Huntington Beach and Newport harbor, it was announced today.

ANAHEIM LIBRARY MAY BE ENLARGED

Tentative plans for a $30,000 extension on the Anaheim city public library were laid before the city council of Anaheim last night by the library board.

Architects had prepared three sets of plans for the board, one of which was approved and turned over to the city council.

Members of the council stated that they did not know how the money would be raised for the improvement and that a bond election for the money might be called during the forepart of next year.

NATIONAL GRANGE FIGHTS SALES TAX

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 20.—(UP)—Agriculture, as represented by the National Grange, was on record today against sales taxes and urged immediate abolition of all such "nuisance" levies.

The sales tax resolution was one of a series approved by the National Grange as it started a series of final business conferences which will be concluded tomorrow night when the convention adjourns.

The farmers' organization also adopted resolutions urging elimination of needless holding companies as a means of preventing the pyramiding of unnecessary expenses which utilities pass on to consumers in the form of high rates.

As a substitution for sales levies, the Grange suggested inheritance taxes levied "based on the ability to pay and not upon the necessity to live."

BROTHERHOOD HEAR TALK ON WAR, ALCOHOL

Prof. F. Darwin Smith, president of the College of Commerce at Long Beach, was the speaker last night at the meeting of the Orange County Church Brotherhood, when it met for a dinner meeting with the La Habra members at the social hall in La Habra.

The subject discussed by Professor Smith was "America's Greatest Dangers." The first of the great dangers threatening America he said was that of being dragged into war.

People get what they prepare for he said and America is spending more money at present on war equipment than at any time since the World war. Stimulating this great danger are the facts that war seems inevitable among the European countries within the next few years, and that our young people are having developed within them the spirit of war. What the American people must do to avoid this is to think. Certain organizations are determined that we shall be war conscious that they may ultimately gain by the profits of war, he averred. The Methodist churches are powerful, he said, and if united with the other churches in the nation could compel the United States to remain out of war, unless invaded, and that will never be.

Liquor Question
The second great danger to America, he said, was the liquor question, which should be controlled by law. Andrew Mellon, he said, was placed in charge of prohibition in America and Andrew Mellon was one of the country's greatest distillers. Prohibition never had a chance. Where the W. C. T. U. failed, he said, was when they laid down on the job after prohibition, instead of continuing their work.

The third great danger is that of production and the distribution of wealth in the United States. The dole is most dangerous, he said. American people should learn that they should not live on the earnings of another and everybody should give value received. The production in the United States is ample to give $500 per year to every family of five, yet statistics show that 55 per cent of the families are living on money scheduled below that deemed necessary for comfort and health and that six-tenths of 1 per cent have more wealth than that 55 per cent. If this condition continues then chaos will follow. The distribution of wealth in the United States is the most abominable in the world.

Entertainment Features
I. E. Wiede, vice-president of the brotherhood, was master of ceremonies during the dinner hour and for the program which opened with community singing led by the Rev. Stanley Powell, of Buena Park. Pauline Johanson, director of music in the La Habra schools, presented her junior orchestra in three numbers. A quartet from the Christian church in Fullerton sang two numbers, with Mrs. J. B. Horner, their director, giving two novelty gypsy solos in costume. The entertainment program was closed with piano solos by Troy Bellomy, of La Habra. Arrangements made included the county meeting of the M. E. Brotherhood to be held at the First Church in Santa Ana, on December 6. Joe Head, president of the Santa Ana organization, announced a 6:30 dinner for that meeting and a program. John W. Yates, of Los Angeles, vice-president of the California Brotherhood, will be the speaker. Fred Dukes, of Buena Park, president of the Orange County

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 20—"Shrimp Fried Rice." It's an unusual mixture, but the Warner studio cafe offers the dish several times a week. Glenda Farrell and a number of other stars recommend it. This Hollywood delicacy is prepared by frying together shrimp, rice, onions and eggs.

Brotherhood, was in charge of the business meeting and introduced the officers of the various divisions present. He also announced the adoption of the executive board of the Brotherhood Week program as outlined by the state organization for January 5 to 12. The annual state convention to be held in Pomona in March was also announced. Seventy were in attendance at the dinner meeting and the dinner was served by the Ladies Aid sections of the La Habra Methodist church.

Battle in Miniature
A terrific battle between two plate ships, being staged by studio miniature experts on an artificial ocean just one block square and three feet deep. The action is needed for "Captain Blood." The craft are maneuvered by workmen operating a maze of ropes, pulleys, and cables. The ships, which will appear full size on the screen, are 8 feet long and ten feet high. Complete in every detail, the vessels each weigh about 500 pounds. By an intricate, underwater electrical system, six-inch cannons on the ships are fired from a control board on a small barge. Three cameras are placed at strategic positions along the bank and one is mounted on a floating tower. Constructed in front of a painted sky at the "shore" is a miniature reproduction of Fort Royal at Jamaica harbor, where the action occurs.

Portable Talkies
A talking picture studio on the hoof! Such is the ingenious method by which the voices of Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy will be recorded amid the peaks of the High Sierras for "Rose Marie," their forthcoming musical picture. "Super-portable" sound equipment, so compact that it can be carried on peaks on the back of a pack-mule, has been developed and perfected for the film. Despite its small size—it weighs less than 200 pounds—the equipment can duplicate any recording operation on a studio sound stage, it is claimed.

the Rev. Luther A. Arthur, will be other features of the opening session.

Addresses by Dr. D. F. Rittenhouse, of Pasadena, on "Forward Through the Gateways," and Dr. Ralph A. Jensen, of Long Beach, will feature the afternoon session, which also will include a discussion of the Children's Baptist Home, by Miss Dora McMullen, and Atherton Court, by Dr. H. R. Greaves. The Fourth District Congress of Parents and Teachers will meet tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. in the auditorium of the First Christian church, it was announced today.

A constructive and educational program has been planned for the day. In the morning the Mother's Chorus will give several songs and Capt. H. C. Meehan of the California Highway Patrol will speak. Luncheon will follow in the educational building of the church.

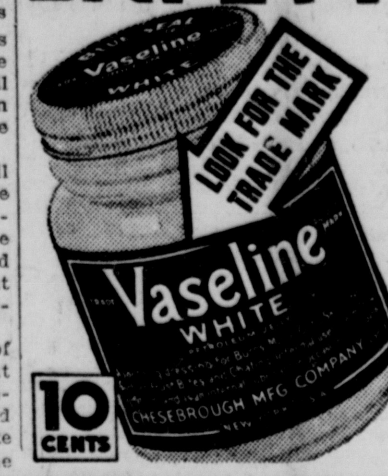

Two interesting discussions will take place in the afternoon, the first on the tax problem in California as it affects schools, and the second on the national peace and the stand taken on this important subject at the recent state convention in San Diego.

Mrs. W. T. Kirven, president of Fourth District, announced that the board of managers recently reaffirmed its stand for peace and quoted Mrs. C. H. Turner, state president, as "feeling deeply the need of far-reaching legislation in this direction."

Arthur Corey will address the group at 1:40 p. m. on "The Educational Significance of the Alcohol and Tobacco Problems." Necessary district conferences and business will conclude the meeting. Adjournment will be at 3 p. m.

ITS PURITY IS YOUR SAFETY

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A more bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes three good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else, too.

P.-T.A. GROUP COMMENTS ON NEW PICTURES

Reviews of current motion pictures by the board of reviews of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers were released today by Mrs. W. M. Hollingsworth, motion picture chairman of the Santa Ana P.-T. A. council. The comments are as follows:

"In Person," R. K. O. picture with Ginger Rogers and George Brent: "Ginger Rogers appears in her first starring picture, with opportunities to sing and dance against the background of a film-sy plot. Adults, entertaining; 8-18, amusing."

"Paddy O'Day," Fox picture with Jane Withers, Pinky Tomlin and Rita Cossin: "An appealing little collection is befriended by a group of eccentric Russians; while she in turn teaches a lesson in the Joy of Living to a musty young ornithologist (birds to you!). A bit of the Old Sod, served with a dash of vodka and recommended as first-class family entertainment."

"Rendezvous," M. G. M. picture with William Powell, Rosalind Russell and Binnie Barnes: "A plot unique in that it is designed for intelligent adult audiences; with sophistication and suspense, a decipherer of ciphers, chained to a desk against his will, a loveable 'Dulcey' and an alluring lady spy; these delectable ingredients are served in a story of war-time Washington, and the results is tops in film fare. Adults, excellent; 14-18, very good. 8-14, mature."

"Show Them No Mercy," 29th Century-Fox picture with Rochelle Hudson, Bruce Cabot and Cesar Romero: "Aptly titled, well cast, and directed with sincerity, is this ruthless expose of gangster psychology. Not recommended as family entertainment, the law-abiding citizen will do well to consider this picture, made with the sanction of the U. S. Department of Justice, as a crushing indictment against crime in general and the kidnaper in particular. Adult audiences."

"Stars Over Broadway," Warner picture with Pat O'Brien, James Cagney, Jean Muir and Frank McHugh: "Smooth direction, fast moving action, three destined-to-be-popular songs, and two stunning personalities—one blonde, the other brunette—lend quality to this newest story of depleted fortunes restored, from Tin Pan Alley to the Metropolitan Opera stage. Adults and 8-18, very good."

"Thanks A Million," 29th Century-Fox picture with Dick Powell, Ann Dvorak, Fred Allen, Pat Kelly, Rubinoff and Paul Whiteman's orchestra: "A politi-

LETTER MANUAL IS DISTRIBUTED BY CLASS HERE

A new 18-page thoroughly modern manual for composing and setting up better business letters is being distributed in the Office Practice class of the Santa Ana Adult Education department, it was announced today.

The class, which meets each Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock in room 26 of Lathrop Junior High school, is designed to equip its students to be thoroughly familiar with office technique.

"Whether you are a dictator or a writer of your own letters," Instructor Helen Walden said today, "the class cordially invites you to call for your copy of the business letter manual and to learn in an unusually easy way how to 'cut out the deadwood,' 'shake hands with the reader,' and apply the truth that 'brevity has cash value.'"

The campaign for better business letters in Santa Ana will be carried on by the class until Christmas vacation, according to W. W. Wieman, principal of the Lathrop evening school.

Cal satire presents a crooner candidate for governor in place of a bibulous aspirant for the position, with a landslide victory for the boy with personality and ideals. Much drinking punctuates a series of tuneful melodies interspersed with snappy repartee, a designing siren and a winning ingenue. Adults, entertaining; 8-18, good."

MASTODON BONE IS DISCOVERED BY ORCHARDIST

Searching for fossils in the foothills near Irvine Park, E. A. Rahlman, Tustin orchardist, has unearthed a thigh bone of a mastodon which roamed through this country millions of years ago, sometime between the middle Miocene and the late Pliocene ages.

Rahlman's hobby is collecting fossils, which he says are abundant in the foothills along the coast. His latest discovery is the socket joint of a mastodon, the huge elephant-like creature of ancient days. The small piece of bone weighs around 75 pounds.

The bone was buried in black adobe soil, Rahlman thinks that it is preserved so well because of lime in the soil. He found the mastodon bone just south of Irvine Park. Although he excavated a considerable amount of ground around where he found the mastodon bone, he was unable to find any other parts of the mastodon skeleton.

The bone Rahlman found now is on display at Hilton's assay office at 125 West Third street. Rahlman thinks the bone would make an excellent museum piece.

HOILES PURCHASE NEW MEXICO PAPER

R. C. Hoiles and Clarence Hoiles of the Santa Ana Register have purchased the News-Journal of Clovis, N. M., according to an announcement made today by Mack Standon, former owner of the New Mexico daily.

The present employees will be retained, with the exception of the business manager, who has been the owner.

Richard Hindley of East Liverpool, Ohio, will be business manager. Mr. Hindley was associated with Mr. Hoiles at Mansfield and Lorain, Ohio, where Hoiles was publisher. Jack Hull, the present editor, will continue as editor of the Clovis paper.

The purchase also included the business, R. C. Hoiles said, when interviewed, that they bought the New Mexico paper as an investment because they believed the Southwest had great possibilities for growth and expansion. He said he would be in Clovis next week when he takes over the management of the paper.

'READING FOR FUN' THEME FOR NATIONAL BOOK WEEK; LIBRARY SHOWS NEW BOOKS

"Reading for fun."

With that as an intriguing theme for Julia Lathrop Branch library's observance of National Book Week, Mrs. Juanita Lake, acting librarian during the illness of Miss Leona Calkins, has worked with her assistant, Miss Eleanor Metzgar, in arranging a library display to prove to adults and students alike, how very much fun may be derived from books.

This branch library at Lathrop Junior high school, an important feature for the south section of the city, is equally important in the daily life of the students. A casual visitor there after school hours, is amazed at the long line of young people waiting for books which they have chosen.

Fine Selection

"We have an unusually fine selection of books," today declared Mrs. Lake. "Sometimes I think that patrons of the branch library are able to secure those books that are in special demand, more promptly than at the main library. We like everyone in the south section of the city to feel free to secure their books through us, and try to keep a representative assortment both of popular fiction and of the more serious books of non-fiction." There is about an equal demand for the two, according to Mrs. Lake.

In preparing for National Book Week, the librarians conducted a poster contest on the dominant theme. More than a hundred posters were entered by interested students of the junior high school, and prizes will be awarded at assembly Thursday, to the two winners, Miss Clessa Burks and Eugene Hamaker. Their posters are given prominent place on the library walls, while other fine examples entered, have been on display in the rotunda and in various school rooms.

Children's Books

One interesting "Book Week" table is devoted to various children's books of unusual age, with a number of the most modern examples of the bookmaker's art, shown with them in contrast. One of the volumes is a "System of Geography" published by Harper Brothers in 1845. This was loaned by Mrs. H. J. Scott, and its dog-eared pages bear mute witness to the study it was given by some child almost a century ago.

Miss Mildred Tummond loaned a blue-bound autograph book filled with the Spencerian penmanship and the tender phrases of 1883. Miss Metzgar loaned several family treasures, including a McGuffey "Electric Spelling Book" of 1865, and "The One Syllable Story Book" of 1880.

Tiny children are given much consideration at this branch library, and one small room sacred to their use, has its big low reading table, surrounded by small kindergarten chairs. Shelves, filled with books dear to childhood, are of easy access, and to add a gay touch are quaint little jointed doll

ORCHIDS, HILL; "HOUSE DIVIDED," BUCK; "GREEN LIGHT," DOUGLAS.

Non-Fiction

In the non-fiction list are "Son of Heaven," Der Ling; "New America, the New World," Wells; "Famous Sheriffs and Western Outlaws," Raine; "American Secret Service Agent," Don Wilkie; "Genghis Khan," Lamb; "Skin Deep," Phillips; "King of the Gophers," Gatti; "Mary Queen of Scotland and the Isles," Zweig; and "Vogue's Book of Etiquette."

New books suitable for junior readers include "Calico Ball" by Sterne; "Coot Club," Ransome; "Prince Commands," Norton; "Wind in the Rigging," Pease; "Beatrice the Brave," Varble; "Traitor's Torch," Crownfield; "Flaming Arrow's People," Paylam; "Junior Aircraft Year Book," "North After Seals," Williamson; "Dobry," Shannon; "Eric the Red," Hanson; "Six Feet Six," James; "Wolf Song," Hubbard; "Trigger John's Son," Robinson; "Young Walter Scott," Gray; "Paul in the Chilean Desert," Thomas; "Gay Scourge," Darby.

DIME REWARD

Gazing at that dime in his hand, Thomas Woodrow Wilson Robinson, 15, St. Louis, Mo., messenger boy, seems a trifle dazed. And no wonder! It's his reward for finding $39,000. The happy, excited man to whom "Woody" restored the endorsed check for that amount handed him a nickel, said, "No, it's worth more," then gave him a dime.

Boy Recovering From Infection

Master Bobbie Roehm, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornish Roehm, 2612 North Flower street, was reported today as showing definite improvement at St. Joseph hospital where he has been undergoing treatment for tetanus. The dread disease developed from a small blister which was caused on the lad's toe from the rubbing of his shoe. He was taken to the hospital on Armistice Day and the battle for his life which has waged ever since, today was thought to be won.

Friendly Group Joins In Anniversary Celebration

Attaining equal success in their plans for a surprise for their friends and the evening which followed, a group of long-time friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kohler met recently to celebrate the couple's silver wedding anniversary.

The surprise, held in the Kohler home at 1461 Wilshire street, had been planned by Mrs. Kohler's sister, Mrs. Lawrence Warner. Each of the guests brought contributions to the supper which was concluded with an ice cream dessert served with a decorated cake mounted with a miniature bride and groom in complete wedding finery.

Good wishes of the guests had found further expression in baskets of flowers which brightened all the rooms and formed colorful centers for the small tables with their gleaming linens where supper was served and where games were later enjoyed.

Mrs. Scott Torrens, representing the Rainbow club of which Mrs. Kohler is a member, presented the honored couple with a handsome casserole in a silver holder.

Guests with Mr. and Mrs. Kohler included Messrs. and Mesdames Roy Kleicher, I. N. Kohler, Ted Richardson, Joe Thompson, Lem Walkinshaw, Scott Torrens, Will Hatch of Arcadia, Lawrence Warner of Covina, Mrs. Mary Adamson, the Misses Edna Kohler, Betty Richardson, Carol Richardson, Lulu Richardson, Messrs. Harold Kohler, Floyd Kohler and Donald Warner of Covina.

Two Congenial Guests Invited to Contract Club Luncheon

With two members of the Tuesday Contract club, Mrs. Horace B. Van Dien and Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon, absent from yesterday's luncheon and game session in the home of Mrs. H. H. Harwood, 2032 Greenleaf street, the hostess called upon two other friends, Mrs. A. I. Mellenstien and Mrs. Howard Rapp, to complete the three tables required for play.

Luncheon was served to the accompaniment of charming appointments in which Mrs. Harwood appointed a delicate orchid cake motif to which damask table linen, chrysanthemums and place cards all conformed.

Place cards served also to designate tables for contract for which guests required to the living room. Mrs. Z. Bertrand West scored high in the subsequent play, and Mrs. H. T. Dunning, second high. To Mrs. Mellenstien went the special guest prize.

Mrs. Harwood's guests included Mesdames Howard Timmons, M. D. Borgmeyer, Leonard G. Swales, Ray Chandler, H. T. Dunning, R. C. Hoiles, W. A. Flood, Benjamin J. MacMillen, Z. Bertrand West, A. I. Mellenstien and Howard Rapp.

Class Shows Interest By Feting Teacher Now Resigned

Regret that First Baptist Married People's class is to lose Mrs. W. H. Harrison as teacher, contrasted with the delightful recollections of her long service in that capacity, mingled sorrow and pleasure for the party at which Mrs. F. W. Dean and Mrs. Kenneth King were joined by other class members in presenting Monday night.

Selecting one of the smaller church parlors as scene of their hospitality, Mrs. King and Mrs. Dean gave the appearance of a charming private home by using attractive floor lamps, furnishing a most artistic decorative scheme. In the latter, they chose shrubs and vines laden with autumn berries or fruits, and arranged these in bowls, wall baskets and other suitable containers.

In the receiving line with Dr. and Mrs. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. King and their honor guest, Mrs. Harrison, were the Rev. and Mrs. Harry Evan Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Echols, representing not only the pastorate, but present and past class presidents. Mrs. Harrison was crowned in crepe in rich plum shades with which the carriage of Bridcliffe roses sent her by her hostesses, achieved a lovely color combination. Mrs. Dean wore a smart frock in almost the same shade of crepe, and Mrs. King was in lustrous black velvet. As hostesses, they also wore flower corsages.

Informal pleasures of the evening included much music with all members of the class joining in favorite songs led by Ernest Ashland with Mrs. Martin at the piano. There were solos, duets and various vocal groups in impromptu numbers, with choruses in which everybody joined.

Chief in importance, however, was the presentation to Mrs. Harrison of the class gift of graceful Franciscan pottery, expressing the appreciation of all members in the time and attention she has lavished on the class in the past.

Refreshments were served from a table which was a veritable picture with its tray of fruits, vegetables and lacquered gourds against a background of candelabra in studio effect. Tapers ranged in hue from deepest fuchsia shades to pale ivory. Fine old brasses were used instead of silver in serving the menu, as blending perfectly into the color scheme. Mrs. Harry Evan Owens and Mrs. Richard Martin poured, and were assisted in serving by Mrs. J. H. Woods, Mrs. Earl Prevett, Mrs. Russell Crouse and Mrs. George Lippincott.

Mrs. Dean Wins Honor For Local Bethel

Couple Married Here Will Live in India

Before establishing their home in India where the bridegroom is employed with the Metropolitan water project, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Davis are spending the remainder of the month as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Sudduth, 2037 North Main street. The Davises were married Tuesday, November 12, in the home of the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, 120 West Twentieth street.

The bride was the former Miss Neva Meacham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Meacham, 118 East Twelfth street. For the quiet rites she wore a gold and brown tunic frock with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow gladioluses and maiden hair fern.

Attending as matron of honor was Mrs. Rollo D. Sudduth (Josephine Stamm) herself a bride of last April. Her gown was of dull green crepe worn with black accessories and a corsage of salmon gladioluses. Rollo Sudduth served Mr. Davis as best man.

Adding a pleasant surprise to the occasion for which the utmost simplicity had been planned, was the presence of three of the bride's most intimate friends, Helen Carden Johnson, Miss Katherine McDermott and Miss Jane Hill, who had arrived secretly at the Buchanan home for the wedding.

The couple deferred plans for a honeymoon journey until summer. Mr. Davis is the son of R. L. Davis of Butte, Montana and has made his residence here at the Finley hotel. Both he and his bride attended Santa Ana schools.

1932 Star Leaders Attend Dinner in Dean Home

Yellow and white used in all table appointments and bridge details made an effective setting for the dinner party given Monday evening by Mr. and Mrs. William J. Dean in their home at 402 East Walnut street. Tall candles and low bowls of marigolds brightened the long table which extended into the living room in cross-shape.

Contract bridge was enjoyed during the evening with Mrs. Percy Steidley and Mrs. Edward Harbaugh holding high and low scores for the women and David Perkins and Percy Steidley totalling the same special tallies for men. Mrs. Dean had chosen attractive gifts of pottery for her prizes.

Guests were members of the 1932 matrons and patrons association of Long Beach of which group the Deans were members. Included were Messrs. and Mesdames D. Burnham, David Perkins, Richard Mitchell, Clifford Miller, Harold March, Lou Krepps, Edward Rudd, Edward Harbaugh, Percy Steidley, Caesar Charles, William J. Dean, the hosts, and Mrs. Dean's father, R. V. Cox.

The meeting is called for the purpose of completing arrangements for the annual midwinter conference which the young business women will hold at San Diego. Sister Hostesses Give Smart Affair In Laguna Beach Hotel

Always a favorite rendezvous with Santa Ana social leaders, Laguna Beach hotel again was called into local prominence yesterday when two sister-hostesses, Mrs. C. P. Boyer and Mrs. Adam F. Zaiser, chose it as setting for a smartly appointed luncheon and bridge.

In maintaining the general friendliness of the afternoon they had assistance from Mrs. Sam W. Nau, Mrs. George Guenther and Miss Louise Tubbs, who aided in checking arrivals, taking up bridge scores, and other pleasant hostess duties.

Luncheon was served in the main dining room where two long tables were reserved for the party. Each was decked with chrysanthemums ranging in hue from delicate mauve and orchid to deep violet tones. Linking the low bowls of blossoms were sprays of 'mums and fern fronds laid in a graceful pattern down the center of each table. A touch of sunny yellow appearing with the prevailing orchid tones, was given accent later in the afternoon by the daffodil wrappings and ribbons of the bridge awards.

Nine tables for contract, placed in the sun room overlooking the sea, were sought at the close of the luncheon interval, and there after a gay round of bridge, prizes were awarded for first, second and third high scores. To Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon was presented a pillow in black lace, the workmanship of Mrs. Zaiser. Mrs. Harry T. Duckett received a perfume bottle with its accompanying vial of fine scent and Mrs. James E. Liebowitz was rewarded with a box of choice stationery.

GLOBE PLAYERS

Everyone who attended the San Diego exposition, returned with enthusiasm for the work of the Globe Players in their Shakespearean repertoire. Miss Morley, who has introduced the Orange County Forum programs so successfully, has arranged with the Players for a date in late January or early February when they will present some chosen plays from their repertoire, in Fullerton high school auditorium, scene of the forum programs.

Travel Section Enjoys Luncheon, Music and Travel Tales

Mrs. Elmer Barr Burns, Mrs. W. W. Anderson and Mrs. M. G. Williams, hostesses Monday to Ebell second travel section members, extended their hospitality to include Mrs. Fred C. Rowland, president of Ebell society, and the special guests who gave interesting program features of the afternoon.

Travelers, assembling for the luncheon with which the afternoon opened, enjoyed a Virginia baked ham menu provided by the hostess trio and served to the accompaniment of autumn flowers and decorations. During the business session which Mrs. T. A. Winbigger, leader, conducted immediately after luncheon, plans were made for the section's Christmas party on Monday, December 16, when Mrs. John J. Harrison, Mrs. Howard Wassum and Mrs. J. H. Walker will be luncheon hostesses, and Mrs. Jay C. Hamill and Mrs. James Tarpel will arrange the program and gift exchange.

Opening the entertainment, Robert J. White gave two solos, "If My Songs Were with Wings Provided" (Kahn), and "There Cried a Bird" (Sinding). His bride, who had been among luncheon guests, was accompanist, and the two young people were recalled for an encore number, choosing "Elegie," by Massenet.

This section has inaugurated the plan of one member presenting an outstanding event of current interest each month in place of roll call, so it was Mrs. J. H. Bell's time to propose a subject for discussion. She found this in P. W. A. projects, and cited the use of German steel on big bridges, a situation that was deplored and called out many comments.

Mrs. Susan Rutherford concluded the program by recounting details of her latest journey far afield, a summer trip to the Canal Zone, and to the island groups near Cuba. She made her talk doubly entertaining by amusing reminiscences, by slides of various points visited, and by the collection of curios which she brought for inspection.

Early Spring Wedding Plans Revealed by Young Couple

Since the engagement of Miss Dorothy Ellison and Lee Hoffmaster has been of general knowledge among their friends for some time, it was more with excited interest than surprise that announcement of their chosen wedding date, March 7, 1936, was received at a pleasant party Saturday evening in Miss Ellison's home, 735 South Sycamore street.

Adopting a favored sorority custom, the young people chose a box of candy with which to reveal their plans for an early spring marriage. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ellison and was graduated from Santa Ana high school in June. Her fiancé, son of Burr Hoffmaster of Clear Lake, and Mrs. Hoffmaster of this city, is connected with the Haven Seed company and was a prominent football player during his attendance at high school here.

After the young people's plans had been related, guests turned their attention to playing crotchet, at which Frank Baker won first prize and Mrs. Robert Haven was consoled.

Mrs. Ellison assisted her daughter in serving refreshments of pumpkin pie with whipped cream, cake and coffee. Thanksgiving motif was evident in table appointments as well as in tally cards and floral decorations.

Invited for the occasion were Messrs. and Mesdames Frank Baker, Robert Haven, Harold Warner, Charles Signorelli of Los Angeles, E. F. Abernathy, Mrs. Amy Hoffmaster, Miss Helen Meyers, Albert Hoffmaster, Keith Hoffmaster, Lee Hoffmaster and the hostesses, Miss Dorothy Ellison and Mrs. William Ellison.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

Have you ever noticed how small people get when they begin to age? They actually shrink in height, and that's bad business, not only for their good looks but for the health and well being of their internal economy. "Inward" to you and me! A great deal of this shrinking-up is due to the tiny gristle cushions between each section of back-bone, pinched flat and to the edge. This can be almost wholly avoided if taken in time, and greatly helped when an accomplished fact, this is the exercise:

Go back to yesterday's breathing exercise for fat people. It started with feet firmly on floor, about a foot apart, arms at side, and head up. All fixed? Breathe in (at open window) slowly, bringing arms above head as if lifting a load.

Thursday: Cookies and more cookies... mince meat... apple sauce... honey... all made into cookies your family will love you for making.

ANN MEREDITH.

and continue stretching the arms away above the head, standing on tip toes to do so. Hold the full breath for a count of five, and come slowly down, bending over, knees firm, until the hands can touch, or almost touch the floor. Not only does this give the poor old spine a chance to flex but the stretching and bending exercise to some extent the great organs (liver, lungs, stomach and intestines).

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Dinner

Hot tomato juice cocktail
Creamed oysters (3 heaped tablespoons)
Sweet and sour carrots, 3 Tbsp.
Chopped spinach creamed with diet mayonnaise, 1 Tbsp.
1-2 grapefruit without sugar
Black coffee
Calory total, 450.
Slice the carrots thin, cook, drain and dress with vinegar, sugar, salt and pepper. Add a bit of butter, too. Drain and wash a quart of oysters for six. Cut each oyster in half and simmer with a piece of butter for 10 minutes. Make a cream sauce, add the oysters, keeping hot in a double boiler. Season the family's share with a half cup of mayonnaise and serve the oysters on toast.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Orange Nut Bread

Peel from 2 oranges, ground
2 scant teaspoons salt
1 cup sugar
2 cups water
1 well beaten egg
3 cups flour sifted with 3 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup chopped walnuts
Boil ground orange peel, salt, sugar and 1 cup water to make a thin syrup. Cool. Measure and add water to make in all, 2-1/2 cups of liquid and material. Add the egg and sifted flour, beat well, add nuts and pack into a long bread tin about 11-1/2 hours. Oven hot to start, then low to complete the baking.

I suggest mixing the recipe as usual, but bake it in a thin sheet in a shallow pan, and when done, pour over it the juice of the 2 oranges mixed with 1 cup powdered sugar. Return to oven and sizzle the top for a few minutes. Delish' with a good salad, and nice enough for a small lunch party.

Puffed Rice Candy

1 cup sugar boiled with 1-2 cup water and 1 teaspoon vinegar (5 minutes)
Add: 2 tablespoons white corn syrup
1 tablespoon butter
1-2 teaspoon salt
Boil the complete syrup to the brittle stage, (test in cold water) and when ready pour over a quantity of crisped puffed rice, forming into balls or leave loose. Grand for youngsters with a sweet tooth!

Thursday: Cookies and more cookies... mince meat... apple sauce... honey... all made into cookies your family will love you for making.

"Hey," Duncy shouted. "Let me out, or tell me what it's all about. Why have you grabbed me and my hopper in your monstrous net?"

"We have not done a thing to you. You will be sorry ere I'm through. I'll have my hopper bite you. Then you will be scared, I'll bet."

This made the old man who had trapped wee Duncy laugh aloud. He slapped his knees and shook all over. Then he said, "Don't be afraid."

"I really am a friendly sort. I picked you up 'cause it was sport. You really are the strangest catch I have ever made."

"You see, I capture butterflies that flit right before my eyes. When you came hopping through the air, I thought I'd have some fun."

"My goodness, but you were surprised when, suddenly, you realized that you were caught in my big net. No real harm has been done."

And then he turned wee Duncy free. "Please tell me who you are," said he. "It's been a long, long time since I have seen a lad like you."

"You're like a funny little elf. Now, when you have explained yourself, I'll let you travel on your way. I'll free your hopper, too."

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

A henpecked husband doesn't stand a ghost of a chance to visit his old haunts.

"Hop right up here, lad, on my knee and get as comfy as can be." Wee Duncy did, and then the big grasshopper made them smile.

Upon the other knee he stood. The old man cried, "That's pretty good. I see you both are friendly, and I hope you'll stay a while."

"Well," Duncy said, "we'll rest a bit, and move on when we're feeling fit." And then he told the old man all about the Twymites.

"My hopper hopped real fast," he said. "That's how we got so far ahead of all the others. They have stopped, no doubt, to see some sights."

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

HEADQUARTERS OF NAPOLEON

SCARCELY a dozen miles from Brno, which used to be Brunn, in Czechoslovakia, stretches the field of Austerlitz, where the military genius of Napoleon Bonaparte revealed itself at its mightiest. With his headquarters at Brunn, the Little Corporal led the combined armies of Russia and Austria, which greatly outnumbered his, into a trap that resulted in the greatest bloodshed of his entire campaign.

That was Dec. 2, 1805. Today, Brno is the second greatest city in Czechoslovakia, a thriving industrial center carrying on the activities that, in pre-war days, gave it the name of the Austrian Manchester. It was the seat of the empire's cloth industry.

The city's greatest architectural treasure is the Cathedral of St. Peter, built in the fifteenth century. It and the old Town Hall, built in 1511, but now modernized, appear on the stamp shown here, one of 10 issued in 1923, to commemorate the tenth anniversary of Czech independence.

This evening's "Armchair Talk on Music" will be the third of three on "Acoustics," a preliminary lecture group in the series being presented on "The Instruments of the Symphony Orchestra and the Musical Sounds They Produce," and broadcast from KREG every Wednesday at the same hour.

Topics of the interesting series of talks to follow immediately after this evening's broadcast will include "The Piano and Its Predecessors," "The Organ," "The Voice," "The Violin" and other topics.

SUPERVISORS WRECK A CAUSE IN ATTEMPT AT VINDICATION

It was with deep regret and utter consternation that we received the surprising news that the board of supervisors submitted the same proposition for the bond election for flood control which was submitted and voted down on the 4th day of October.

There was before them a modified plan that could have saved several million dollars and, in our judgment, absolutely adequate for all the real necessities of the case.

Laying this modified plan entirely aside, however, their own consulting engineers pointed out that there was an unnecessary amount of $1,650,000 put in for right of ways that could be saved. They retained this amount, however, and all the rest.

With this advice before them; with the knowledge that the taxpayers are groaning; the board of supervisors almost insultingly, by voting out the proposition for the total amount again, said to the people: "You are going to pass this bond issue, giving us nearly two million dollars more than we need, which is a mortgage debt upon your property, or you aren't going to get an opportunity to vote for any program."

They virtually declared: "Now in order to get this government money to help out, you must vote for us this million and three-quarters more than is necessary."

It was defeated on the 4th of October with only a surmise on the part of the voters that their pockets were being unnecessarily raided. Now, however, they are being robbed in broad daylight.

Then the chairman said: "Why, if they can't trust us, we hadn't ought to be sitting here." Well, that makes it pretty nearly unanimous.

With a group of men who have increased our regular expenses of the county, this year over last, to the tune of nearly three-quarters of a million dollars, $714,000, now adding to a bond issue $1,650,000 more than is necessary, even in their own program, making a total of two million and a quarter heavier burden upon the taxpayer, and unnecessarily so, we have the suggestion that they should be "trusted."

We note it is to "trust" them, but the taxpayer must pay cash. We have yet to hear of any taxpayers in this region whose bills have been reduced on the same property, but nearly everyone has had them increased.

Another strange sidelight upon this controversy is the fact that during this late campaign, it was urged that the building of the dam was necessary in order to insure the cessation of spreading in the upper Santa Ana river. What magnificent oratory was spent on that!

One of the great objects they had in mind was to insure the efforts that were being put forth to prohibit the spreading of water which belonged to Orange county.

Now the condition which they entered into, supposedly in good faith, with Riverside county, is that the board will use all influence possible to remove the restraining hand on the spreading, and to have the suit, which is our legal protection, withdrawn.

This is done as the basis of getting a consent from Riverside county.

This is an attempt to trade Orange county's rights for water for a flood control program that is put out to the voters after it had already been defeated and in spite of the fact that their engineer advisors, whom they have been pretending to follow and not direct, have advised them that they have nearly two million dollars more in their set-up, as a blanket mortgage on Orange county, than they need to have.

We are confident that if there had been any inclination, shown at any time or anywhere in the past, to give any consideration to the people who foot the bills and whose vote must be obtained, there would be some chance of success.

We had expected there would be some modification, certainly to the extent of saving money where it could be saved and we were prepared to support such a program.

Indeed, we were called up night before last, from Riverside county, by one of the supervisors, and asked concerning the probabilities. We urged that there might be some chance and declared we would favor the project if these reductions, that had been pointed out by the engineers, would be taken out of the program.

We are almost forced to the conclusion that for some unaccountable reason, four members of the board of supervisors were determined to place this before the voters in such a manner that it would be impossible for the voters to support it.

Why do they want it defeated?

Why do they insist that these millions shall be placed in their hands for right of ways, when they themselves acknowledge that it isn't necessary?

Why do they insist that this impossible condition shall go over or nothing shall go over?

Now we will frankly say what, in our judgment, is the reason they refuse to save the taxpayers' money. It is not because they can get it over; they know they can't, but these men, in our judgment, say among themselves and practically say by their vote: "If we cut this down, the voters will say, 'Why did you attempt to put it over on us in the first place?'"

So, as we pointed out the other day, they will destroy all chances of success, in order to attempt to vindicate the wrong position which they originally took.

The city of Santa Ana has learned the last few weeks, that it must meet $600,000 additional obligation in the Metropolitan Water financing. It has learned just exactly as The Register pointed out, that its tax bills have been increased, and it will learn that the city is increasing its general expense at a rapid rate.

We note that J. P. Morgan said that private fortunes will be destroyed in this country in the next 35 years unless public expenditure and taxes are reduced.

We are not worrying about J. P. Morgan, but we know he tells the truth in this respect, and we are concerned with John Doe down on Seventh street.

It is a sad state indeed when the solemnity and the importance of our crying need in this county is so ill considered that it is sacrificed by the obstinacy of our officials.

WELCOME AND CONGRATULATIONS

The Register wishes to extend a warm and sincere welcome, on behalf of the citizens of Santa Ana, to the new city librarian, Miss Ethel Walker, who assumed her new duties Monday, and to congratulate the library board on its selection.

Miss Walker comes from the cultural atmosphere of a university town, Palo Alto, where she was librarian of the city library, and we are confident that she will find and appreciate here many of the same fine community qualities that she has enjoyed before. And we feel that she will find even more here to make life enjoyable and worth while. For Santa Ana has a reputation as a cultural center and a city of friendly people.

The new city official comes well qualified for her work, having secured experience at Long Beach, Los Angeles and Palo Alto, in addition to her training for the responsibility of ministering to the library needs of a community.

We extend our best wishes to Miss Walker and again congratulate the library board on its selection of a successor to the post vacated by the resignation of Miss Jeanette McFadden who had served so faithfully for more than three decades.

Canadian Treaty Will Be Viewed as Local Issue

San Francisco Chronicle

The tariff being still "a local question," the reactions to the Canadian reciprocity treaty will be largely local. Those who hope by it to sell more goods to Canada will be for it, while those who fear competition by Canadian imports with their products will be against it. Neither will inquire whether it is good or bad for the general interests of America.

By this measure, California apparently fares well. The agricultural products for which the treaty opens a larger market in Canada are largely those which it admits more freely to the United States are not those which compete with us. Assuming, as most of us do, that the only profitable end of any transaction is the selling one, and that the only business which counts is our business, California will be pleased.

Washington and Oregon, on the other hand, will be displeased at the reduction of rates on even a limited quota of Canadian lumber imports. Every Canadian log imported will, to be sure, leave us one more American tree still standing. And trees are wealth. We shall be the richer—in trees—and Canada the poorer (still in trees) to the extent of these imports. Our forests will supply us longer, and the day of a lumberless America will be postponed.

All this is true enough, but the people immediately concerned do not know it. They think that they are better off if they grow poorer in trees and richer in money. The cut-over counties in California have now learned, too late, the fallacy of that theory. And most of us do not realize that the American money which Canada pays us for our goods can only be obtained by selling Canadian goods in America. We think it grows on bushes, in Canada.

Turning from these popular fancies to the truth, and regardless of particular schedules, the general principle of reciprocity with Canada was always sound. Even the political separation of the two countries was an accident of the Revolution—which, however, no one would now undo. The Canadians like their government better than we do ours, and we do not quarrel with them over that preference.

But the two regions were made by nature to be one economic unit. If Canada would adopt our tariff against the rest of the world, we could very well afford complete free trade with Canada on the same basis that there is free trade between New York, Florida and California.

Even as it is, a large measure of reciprocity will be good for both countries. If any of the schedules of this particular treaty are wrong, they should be corrected. Its principle is good.

British Voters Uphold Sanctions

San Francisco Chronicle

British voters in Thursday's parliamentary elections upheld the Government on sanctions against Italy. That was the real issue. Parliament had been adjourned and new elections called for a popular mandate on this specific question. The effective date of sanctions had been postponed to await the verdict. There can be no mistaking the meaning of the vote.

This verdict is not weakened by the reduced majority of the National Government party. On the contrary, the international crisis stopped, short a growing Laborite movement seen in city elections before the international situation became acute. When the Government went to the people on an issue involving the Empire all local issues became subordinate.

On paper there was little difference between the parties. Their manifestoes were verbally almost identical. Whatever difference existed was in emphasis. This divergence of emphasis was most sharply drawn in the matter of defense of the realm. All parties were for national defense, but the Laborites charged the Government with "a vast and expensive rearmament program." The Government soft-pedaled its military policy as one "to repair gaps in our defense." Everybody recognized, however, that the return of the Government meant a stronger military policy.

In brief, the issue was the practical one of who could do the immediate job best. Satisfied with the Government's policy to date the voters gave a vote of confidence to carry through. The Britishers voted on the actual situation, rather than on finely drawn paper issues. The result was expected because it was a natural.

There was cynical campaign talk that the leaders of the Coalition Government were using the sanctions to win the election and with that accomplished would forget their promises and do business with Mussolini. To be sure, Lloyd George won an election on the promise to hang the Kaiser—and Lloyd George is now a leader without a following. Even cynics presume a lot when they rate the Conservative Government leaders as fools.

LINES BY A HOLLYWOOD SUPER

Sometimes I'm a part of an army;
Sometimes I'm part of a mob;
But few films you would see
If it wasn't for me—
I simply must keep on the job.
When actors are gathered together
You'll find me in every group;
But I garner no fame
And I win no acclaim,
I'm only a Hollywood "supe."

Today I am cast as a pirate,
And pitch people over the rail.
Tomorrow perhaps
I'll be tricked up in chaps,
And follow the Oregon trail.
But whether afoot or on horseback,
Or a part of a crowd in a hall,
I always shall know
That wherever I go
I shall be just a super, that's all.

But what would the films do without me?
Somebody must carry the spears;
Somebody has got
To be right on the spot
To furnish the shouts and the cheers.
If it wasn't for me and my buddies
To make the empyrean throb,
And boldly engage
In battles of stage,
No actor could hold down a job.

Pop was smoking and thinking with a satisfied expression, and ma said, I can't get that gypsy fortune teller out of my mind. She told my fortune and she told Benny's downtown in the Gypsy Tea Room the other day, and now I know my fortune is going to come true because Benny's has come true already, she said.

The dooce it has, what was her prediction? pop said, and ma said, She predicted he would receive unexpected money from across the water.

Well how the blinking blazes could a thing like that, or come true? pop said, and ma said, It came true to the very spirit of the letter this very afternoon, tell your father all about it, Benny.

Wich I did, saying, I was in Sid Hunt's back yard watching him make his mechanical battleship run in a big washtub, and he's owed me a cent about 2 months and I was tired asking him for it, but I asked him again just for luck because we was both there so I thawt I mite as well, and what did he do but take a cent out of his pocket and hand it to me across the washtub, and if that's not receiving unexpected money from across the water, what is?

Help, give me air, pop said, and ma said, Now Willyum dont pretend that's any meer coincidence, it came out exactly as the gypsy foretold. She didn't specify how much money or how much water, so that's why I feel so positive that her prediction about my going to be presented with a new fur coat by my husband this winter is going to base itself just as surely on fact, ma said.

Then you must have another husband hidden somewhere, pop said, and ma said, Willyum, it's inevitable, as soon as I heard Benny's story I knew it was inevitable, and there's no use fighting off the inevitable. On the contrary, when a thing is inevitable the only sensible procedure is to hurry it up, so I want downtown this morning and you'll be glad I did, because I was just in time to get a $300 squirrel coat for 2 hundred and 79 forty, but when you see how beautiful it is the bill will seem meaningless at any figure, she said.

The result being pop went around to the bowling alley.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

ROOSEVELT AND RECOVERY

Mr. Roosevelt's political fortunes will depend upon what the country comes to believe is his relation to whatever degree of recovery the nation experiences between now and the election in 1936.

Yesterday I pointed out that the great strength of the President has been, until recently, that he succeeded in selling the country on the idea that the "new deal" policies were the nation's hope of getting jobs, wages and profits back. And millions of Americans backed the NRA and all it symbolized because they believed this. Now, since they see recovery moving along more rapidly without the NRA than with it, they wonder.

The opposition, of course, will insist that the NRA and many other "new deal" devices have delayed recovery; that recovery would come more quickly if more of these devices were discarded.

It remains to be seen whether the picture Mr. Roosevelt etched upon the public mind of himself as the promoter of recovery will be replaced by a picture of Mr. Roosevelt as the delayer of recovery.

If this shift in public belief takes place, even the recovery that comes between now and the late months of 1936 may not be the political asset to the administration that prosperity normally is to any party in power.

It is an axiom of tested truth that as people begin to become prosperous again they become less and less hospitable to a reform administration.

While depression is on people want someone to lift them over the rough places.

When prosperity begins to return people want to be let alone.

If recovery moves rather steadily along between now and 1936, will Mr. Roosevelt be able to transform himself from the kind of leader people like when the going is rough to the kind of leader people like when the skies begin to clear. This may be Mr. Roosevelt's major problem.

WHO ARE YOU?

Dear Boys and Girls: I like to read in the newspapers about young people who are doing important things, taking honors in some laboratory work, heading a new movement in art, medicine, scientific approach in a field of human endeavor. I want to throw up my hat and cheer for every one of them who makes an effort to dent the walls that cast their shadows over human happiness. It is great to read of a young man who is out to fight disease, social injustice, error of any sort.

It is a lift to the soul to read about a young woman who has marked out a course of life that offers service to humanity. Such plans mean richer lives for the young men and women, and a better spirit, a happier life for the rest of us. It is great to be young and feel the urge to do and dare.

I wish there were more on their way toward achievement. I firmly believe in the quality of the individual. The finer the quality of his life the better for the great group. No quality in the individual means so quality in the people. We have the finest schools in the world. We offer the finest opportunities for education ever offered a young generation. Many of those who might take advantage of their opportunities turn their backs upon them and go play.

I think of this as I read about young people—those who are to be married, or who are going to enter business, going to make some important step in life. The newspaper reporter wants to have a story about them. Sometimes he gets one, sometimes he does not. You can read through the scant lines how hard he has tried. "He attended Famous School." That was all for one young man. He carried a social responsibility inherited from his hard-working father. "She is a fine horsewoman," was all that could be said for a young woman, who was about to marry the able young man.

Luckily there are others who not only attend the Famous School and won their degrees, but started on a worthwhile job. "He was graduated from The University, taking honors in his field. He has been working in cooperation with Dr. Serious to isolate the germ of a dread disease. He is going to begin work soon in a foreign port." There is no trouble about finding something to say about him, or his kind.

And now I ask you: Who are you? When we are asked about you what can we say? That you were a good ball player? That you were the best dressed girl in the neighborhood, and had a keen eye and a light touch for cosmetic effects? Better begin to be somebody. Pay your way in terms of service. Know something more than other folks know about some one thing. Do some white job better than anybody else can do it. Then go play ball or ride a horse or dance until morning. You will have earned it.

Affectionately yours,
